Preface
CMOK to YOU To presents in slightly modified form the email correspondence of the Serbian-born poet Nina Živančević and Canadian cultural theorist Marc James Léger from the period February to May 2015. In December of 2014 Léger invited Živančević to contribute a text to the second volume of the book he was editing, The Idea of the Avant Garde – And What It Means Today. Taken with each other’s idiosyncrasies, their correspondence gradually shifted from amiable professional exchanges and the eventual failure to organize a scholarly event to that of collaborating on some kind of writing project, which eventually became CMOK. Several titles were attempted for this book – Marshmallow Muse: The Exact and Irreverent Letters of MJL and NZ, The Orange Jelly Bean, or, I Already Am Eating from the Trash Can All the Time: The Name of This Trash Can Is Ideology, The Secreted Correspondence of Mme Chatelet and Voltaire, and I’m Taken: The E-Pistolary Poetry of Kit le Minx and Cad – but none of these proved to be more telling that CMOK, the Serbian word for kiss, which sums up the authors’ quest for “harmony” in an altogether imperfect world and literary medium.

With regard to the following presentation, some names have been changed in order to protect people who might otherwise be offended by unguarded or absurdist commentary. For the sake of clarity, the emails are presented in their respective email threads. As the daily correspondence becomes more frequent, however, there are at times near-simultaneous responses to different threads. On the whole, the dialogue is more coherent when the individual emails are presented in their respective threads even if on occasion this confuses the real-time chronological sequence. The clock readings refer to Marc James Léger’s Montreal Inbox, North American Eastern Daylight Time, which comes six hours later than the Central European Time Zone in Paris and Belgrade.

hi Nina,
i received your books a few weeks ago and managed to read two of them and am just now sitting down to Death of NYC and should say that so far i liked Cure especially and look forward to these other poems speaking of avant garde this poetry project seems interesting, no? http://www.lanaturnerjournal.com/contents/print-issue-7-contents-2 since you are a person of many places it makes no sense for me to talk about Yugoslavia in particular but i will say that i recently did an interview with Janez Emil Janša, a really nice person and doing great work and also look for my contribution in Grey Zones of Creativity and Capital, edited by Gordana Nikolic and Sefik Tatlic for the Museum of Contemporary Art Vojvodina, Novi Sad otherwise I’m looking forward to your contribution to Idea of the Avant Garde, vol.2; the contributors so far include: Oliver Ressler, Pauline Oliveros, John Tilbury, Lucien Kroll, Richard Barbrook, Condé & Beveridge, Alfredo Jaar, FREEE, David Tomas, David Thomas, Kelly Copper, Gavin Grindon, Gabriel Rockhill, Machete Group, Georgina Born, Massimo Ricci, Marcelo Exposito, Mitch McEwen with Dawn

Hi Marc! Although your name reads Léger, I see you are not taking things “à la légère” and your excellent work attests to it -- here we are suffering from many things which I’m afraid not very “avant-garde” and which concern public civility, so, I’ve been getting ready to sit down and write something for your no.2-- but these awful political climate takes much away of my time, anyways, I’ll get to it soon, and I would like to know -- how long my contribution should be, in printed pages I mean..
I’ve checked first Juliana Spahr’s article as she edited my booklet a long time ago, and she’s someone I’ve known a bit, but I have a different idea of the project. I look forward to reading your work and your compilations- thank you so much for yr attention to my work, keep the flame burning much love à bientôt

Bonjour Nina,

Actually, my professor of medieval history told me that my name comes from the middle ages and means (meant) “lecher” but even here I’m afraid I have been somewhat taking things easy - à la Légère - and not like your famous countryman Sade - encore un effort, citoyens! Of course you will forgive me if my favourite is Žižek and I am only starting to know about Zupancic.
The contributors are free to send in what they like and I have no word limit except maybe your own sense of what you would like to contribute to a book with 50 other people. Pauline Oliveros and John Tilbury sent in about 500 words each. Lucien Kroll sent in 14,000 words, which is quite a lot and a very good text in fact. My prediction is that your contribution will come somewhere in between ...
Yes, Juliana Spahr in this anthology is very good and I liked also her collaborator Joshua Clover’s piece. There is also this book that came all my best

Marc

My dear Marc- thank you for the link and yr smart response- indeed, the entropy is the state of my spirit and my mind..

hmmm.. Žižek - I tried to understand and like, sort of before I read a brilliant book “Sensitive Case” by Darko Jelicic.. I wish I cld translate THAT one into English... The author, despite his collateral damages (former minister of culture who ended up in a Stalinist type of jail cell etc) dismantled Žižek along the seams of his high-fashion thinking, deconstructing his thought – that reached us in a form of the high commercial philosophic commodity- but, he (Jelicic) did it in such a brilliant way and manner that’s it’s worth reading it and.. yes of course, many “Eastern European” or “central European” philosophers are jealous of Žižek – as he had got to West European market earlier than they did, however-- some of them, like this Jelicic, are also brilliant in their analysis of the Žižek phenomenon etc etc Zupancic, may be a good thinker, may not, I haven’t read this one from my primary school days....-- you should check into Crnjanski, by far one of the best Central European Moderninsts.. he’s our Kafka..

So, good night dear Marc, please take a look at our editorial activities , the mag “Les Intempestives” and the anarchist site edited by Žižek ’s (and my close) friend Giancarlo Pizzi, Orpheerouge.org. We’ve been working very hard on several topics at the same time!

best,
Nina Zee

just a warning Nina, the first essay in the book would seem to be the most controversial with readers and so maybe it’s better to start backwards and move your way to the first essay - but in any case if you are familiar with Žižek’s arguments about “postmodernism or class struggle” in Hegemony, Contingency, Universality, then what I say is redundant

i have invited a Palestinian architect to write for volume 2 but no word from her yet - and also Emily Jacir has made some good projects about Charlie, thanks for the Chomsky yes, the reaction to the CH massacre was entirely foreseeable, and even after 9/11, I was living in the US, I knew there would be reaction - i dread that now France wants to pass a patriot act -- two days after CH, I wrote this piece, obviously less detailed than Chomsky:

Dear Marc, thank you so much for sharing these links with me- I was not aware of your blog-- too much work around here--but your text is excellent and of course much more coherent and substantial (technically speaking etc) than my would be ‘controversial’ blog I wrote the day following the Charlie event, My friend Wael, assistant to Badiou and Rancièr won’t talk to me now.. eh.. too bad in regards to losing friends..
Anyways, the PODEMOS case and Syritza case I’ve been following and as the matter.. this afternoon our editorial group led by my good friend, aka Toscanini, has a meeting. Our editorial now is Tancelin (taught aesthetics at Paris 8), Pizzi, friend of Toni Negri, who also did time because of the Red Brigades, Bruno Dequinot (teaches art, media at Paris 3) Pablo, a Podemos activist, Gerard da Silva, a wild Portugese writer, Mariola O., a Grotowski specialist, and mini-me...
You can check us out on www Orphéerouge.com.. or org..?I'll bring yr blog to the meating, i really love it! anyways, The Neoliberal Undead is next to my pillow and waiting to be read.. am likely to go back to “Art” my favorite lollypop of all times..

btw, have i sent you my book “Onze femmes artistes..” ?where trodding along E Said’s steps i try to deciphre the question What does (and how much) an artist gains by leaving his homeland and what does s/he lose? i Have a very very nice day on the top of the “Real Mountin” or wherever you are!

Nina,

i see that you came out of it right away - it took me a little while to see that people were going to start to get emotional about it but without any consideration. it’s too bad that Wael is so PC - I tried that once and after that was finished I wrote a few things the Art lollipop I have a lot to say about, as do you, and this article here is just the tip of it: http://www.metamute.org/community/your-posts/revolution-going-to-be-communist yes, I have Onze Femmes Artistes here with me - thank you - the notion of exile did not stand out for me as strongly as the resemblance to a book I used to have (now at Rosika’s) called Onze Artistes from the 50s, with Picasso, Cocteau, Brancusi and others - portraits of artists in their studio - i like this Ken Russell territory on the lives of artists, which my colleague Bruce Barber loves also with his “born under Saturn” way of seeing things and also representations of artists as deviants in the movies - but these women artists, isn’t it Victoria Vesna and not Vesna Victoria ? Abramovic was discussed in Volume 1 of Idea of the Avant Garde by Moe Angelos - that’s a good question, about the costs and benefits of leaving one’s homeland, I can talk about it too yes, we have a “the mountain” in Montreal - i will go back when the snow melts all the best

Marc

Yes, you’re right this book ‘Onze femmes’ I conceived in the 1990s but is pertinent as it examines the involuntary (political post-Marxist) exiles of Koshara Bokshan and Ljubina Jovanovic (oldest members here) who failed to get arrested by OZNA in 1950 because they said they had liked Chagall!!
Then I tried to show that they were two women-artists in our Fluxus and that there was Marina but also Eugenija Demnievska (they started our ‘body art’ and performance minimalism), and onto Kirila Faeh, Oli de Mejcen etc etc..The task was big and now i hear that i did not handle it well..Certainly it may be, but i am always writing from a position of a writer, and that’s how I’d take my task of writing for you about the “Avant-garde”. There’s no historical one.
We are already history. I hope you agree to that. Let us see what we can think up in a new and entropic manner. How are you doing on Mannerism? I have to see every barbaric manner in the political surroundings here in France, and yet! It was Averroes who called the Westerners Vandals thus Vandalusia, Andalusia, as what we approach often borders on vandalisms in thinking and action.

Thanks for sharing your Web garden with me! You are a very kind and open person! best,
nina zee

Nina Zee - what you have to say about avant garde is what you have to say and i look forward to it – it’s for everyone involved as they like it - even though the other day I tried to coax someone into giving me more than 50 dismissive words and then he started accusing me of being Hitler so it got a little crazy real fast - but I try to be a good comrade now what are they doing ?

best
Marc
accusation? you, being HITLER..? who could THAT be?(i hope not richard hell) i am not like that, i am much more subtle in my approach in my writing, most of the time--although some people don’t know how to read it.... but sophisticated people like you- perhaps, why not. I am delighted that you’ve invited mini-me to participate in yr project and i hope to be at ‘la hauteure” of such a task.. one more thing: ONE should not come too close to the artists or movements s/he analyses, the artists in question start hating you, f they flash the accusations etc etc- won’t go into the psychoanalysis of the phenomenon, and you just kill yourself to bring into light our respective existence..
OK, please-- have a nice day!
best,
nina

Dear MJL I even ordered yr book on the Brave New Avant Garde through Amazone...to get acquainted w yr style/mode of thinking. And to format my essay..
I was joking about the gift phenomenon which is real..but not for this purpose of your project You must be tired or real busy... as you sort of misread some of my mails..but to reassure you: i have to swallow an important conference on the AG in April, was invited by Georges Banu himself, so I will shape up my contribution to you as well (out of it). And out of Kantor’s body and the East European cum post AG theater vs performance practice( evreything I did and was and am and will be) So, out of the body of that text I’ll assemble a baby new born text fr you.

Sounds good to you?

Nina ZEE, I’m not sure if how or why i misread your emails, but I assure you i did not intend (I try not to have my nose up against the glass), but anyhow it all seems interesting to me, especially as my writing somehow automatically seeks to mimic yours - so you will recognize that my form responds to yours - as so in this regard I look forward to sharing my new book Drive in Cinema, which will come out in September - but I will send you also the Millet Matrix, which I think you would like thanks for ordering BNAG; you could say that BNAG goes with NU, but that whereas NU is more activist, BNAG makes some theoretical departures, especially Welcome to the Cultural Goodwill Revolution and The Subject Supposed to Over-Identify, which is the starting point for most of what I’ve done since then - deepening: 1) the class analysis of the real subsumption of labour in biocapitalism/post-fordism, 2) the limitations of activism-massism within biocapitalism, 3) the relevance of artistic avant-gardes and political vanguards in this context for the volume 1 i wrote a very short introduction, This Is Not an Introduction, because with 50 contributors, and now 100, I do not ask contributors to be concerned with the editorializing - this is a discussion amongst ourselves and others, which I parametered as three generations: 60s-70s neo avant-gardes, 80s-90s (anti)post-modernists, 2000s activists - in the context of today’s international crises, and inter-disciplinary, because different fields respond to AG with different references that the others can benefit from knowing more about – and so not so much a textbook, but to be used by users still working on:

idiots: nomadic practices: discourse of the hysteric morons: critically affirmative: discourse of the university imbeciles: avant garde: discourse of the analyst but now Žižek is coming out with his Discourse of the Master, which to me is simply Art, which causes a lot of problems (maybe not for Badiou), but my essay in BNAG you will see is about the Analyst so yes, please send me your baby and i will do my best to be your meta-mom and this is good company, 100 people or more and now also Kantor theatre n perf ... thank you!!!

best
Marc

Dear M(a)rc, or should I say M(e)rc, which is our (:ar) in French. Come to think of it, it sounds like Merk or Merkel, but then this already sounds like Hitler to you, I bet.
You see how we get into linguistic taxonomies- and I am glad that you reminded me that I should be more serious in terms of my style of writing, or at least more sounding English than French.. Ay, you see what the French have done to me?
A couple of years ago I spoke and wrote perfect English but now I really sound like thinking in French and writing in English..
However, having said all this, I should warn you (ach, what should I warn You?) not to enter my form in writing simply because you are my editor and you should correct my errors and insufficiencies rather than “responding to my form”.Imagine what a disaster it would be if the contents resemble one another as well as our respective forms? However, I find this correspondence highly amusing, as much as you do, and I notice that it has started invading my ‘real’(ity), I was opening my mail tonight hoping that I’d find your response, or as Badiou has nicely remarked in his “A la recherche du réel perdu”.. he says something like “Faut-il alors dire que le réel ne se laisse appréhender que du coté de l’expérience, de la perception sensible, du sentiment immédiat, voir de l’émotion, ou même de l’angoisse? C’est une longue tradition en philosophie.” And then, “C’est dans ces termes, finalement, que Pascal entreprend de ruiner la rationalisme cartésien, que les empiristes s’en prennent à Leibniz, que Kierkegaard critique Hegel,, ou que l’existentialisme remplace la vérité par la liberté”. And I was happy to find your message that you were planning to share your new book, Drive in Cinema with me- you probably know that it would make me very happy to read it and perhaps, if I like my own reading of it, publish a review somewhere etc. You could even come to Paris to make a presentation/promotion of it, I surely know a couple of places which would be happy to host your conference. Until that happy day when your book arrives, I will probably sit here anxiously (biting my nails over Kantor) but as Badiou has also said “Disons que la question philosophique du réel est aussi, et peut-être surtout, la question de savoir si, étant donné un discours selon lequel le réel est contraignant, on peut, ou on ne peut pas, modifier le monde de telle sorte que se présente une ouverture, antérieurement invisible, par laquelle on peut échapper à CETTE contrainte sans pour autant nier qu’il y a du réel et de la contrainte...” Has this passage explained my fear that you might have misunderstood my emails? I always misunderstand some- many people have already started numerous arguments because of the misunderstanding of emails. It is much better and nicer to talk to the Other (as Levinas wld say), directly, as the electronic communication becomes obtrusive . It is a new form of psychological warfare brought by the empires such as Google or Smoogle and Doodle..if you know what I mean. And of course you do! And I am deeply moved that you want to be a meta-mom for my text, as you see that I need someone to mother my texts in English- here every editor is going to have plenty of work, hands full of work . If you can edit my writing I’d say it wld be great, and if you cannot really- I’ll give my article to one of my American friends to correct the basics. And you will always remain the “meta-pop” for this piece of writing, as you sollicited it.. Btw, how did you find my address? Who gave it to you? Meaning-- is there any friend in common who suggested you to contact me? I hear you saying “the world and the web is very big.."
Anyways, please think about a possible presentation of your work here in Paris. One could invite to your evening all these bigwigs whom you’ve been reading and quoting... but for such an event, I wld have to contact all the idiots, morons and the imbeciles who you had mentioned in your letter. Voila! I wish you a very good evening,

Dear Nina Zee, I see no choice here but to respond in between the lines, not unlike the white and black stripes that we love so much in underground Parisian fashion of the 50s (maybe even Germany in the 20s)

On 19 February 2015 at 17:40, Zivancevic Nina <zivancevicn65@gmail.com> wrote: Dear M(a)rc, or should I say M(e)rc, which is our (:ar) in French. Come to think of it, it sounds like Merk or Merkel, but then this already sounds like Hitler to you, I bet.

I like (e) but maybe in like Kurt Schwitters’ M(e)rz and a home full of Marzbau friends - which was my point sending you Rosika’s Mary Linwood Napoleon - her friend made one of George III after Benjamin West - but more to evading your typographic whatnots

You see how we get into linguistic taxonomies- and I am glad that you reminded me that I should be more serious in terms of my style of writing, or at least more sounding English than French.. Ay, you see what the French have done to me?

I see nothing but I can take your word for it and maybe also the imagined sound of your speeches to the French parliament.

A couple of years ago I spoke and wrote perfect English but now I really sound like thinking in French and writing in English..

that’s what they said about Gabrielle Roy, which led to Anne Hébert and Marie Claire Blais - I asked her for a signed copy of La belle bête and she said, “oui, c’est de ton age”

However, having said all this, I should warn you (ach, what should I warn You?) not to enter my form in writing simply because you are my editor and you should correct my errors and insufficiencies rather than “responding to my form”. Imagine what a disaster it would be if the contents resembles as well as our respective forms?

yes, that’s very true, though you should not underestimate my knowledge of the Black Arts - I am happy to do some editing work on your text and this reminds me are you doing this to be like the Others? - in any case it is my pleasure

However, I find this correspondence highly amusing, as much as you do, and I notice that it has started invading my ‘real’(ity). I was opening my mail tonight hoping that I’d find your response, or as Badiou has nicely remarked in his “A la recherche du réel perdu”.. he says something like you should email my pen pal - though he has been sick lately - poor little Bill ... his photographs remind me of your poems ...

Faut-il alors dire que le réel ne se laisse appréhender que du coté de l’expérience, de la perception sensible, du sentiment immédiat, voir de l’émotion, ou même de l’angoisse?

what is he saying ?

C’est une longue tradition en philosophie.

this is also -In- Praise of Love, which I endorse

And then, “C’est dans ces termes, finalement, que Pascal entreprend de ruiner la rationalisme cartésien, que les empiristes s’en prennent à Leibniz, que Kierkegaard critique Hegel,, ou que l’existentialisme remplace la vérité par la liberté”.

when in doubt ... truth procedure!

And I was happy to find your message that you were planning to share your new book, Drive in Cinema with me- you probably know that it would make me very happy to read it and perhaps, if I like my own reading of it, publish a review somewhere etc. I’d be happy to attempt at clarifying some issues of your good book with the general readership, so to speak..

I have to warn you there are some difficult essays in there

You could even come to Paris to make a presentation/promotion of it, I surely know a couple of places which would be happy to host your conference. Well, yes, such things have to be planned in advance, we all know that. Until that happy day when your book arrives, I will probably sit here anxiously at least I will, and this is August or September I think - but you can also promulgate The Idea of the Avant Garde, volume 1, which came out last September and still needs readers and reviewers - so maybe that’s something you would like to suggest - as for Paris! oh yes! and perhaps I could present something on the films of Vera Chytilova’s (RIP) Daisies, which I do with a comparison to Vaclav Vorlicek, Who Wants to Kill Jessie? in relation to psychoanalysis - I have not yet presented this material anywhere - I heard that in France they love their art rupestre and so it should go over well - I should maybe write something about Fruit of Paradise, which is maybe an even better film (biting my nails over Kantor) but as Badiou has also said the relation of the negation of the relation

in relation to an invitation by me to Badiou through his friend in NY said “he doesn’t care about your Québec” - well, these punk girls, that say what? “And if you need to use institutions to make sure the world doesn’t cop out, we’re going to use them.” cop?

Has this passage explained my fear that you might have misunderstood my emails. I always do- many people have already started numerous arguments because of the misunderstanding of emails. It is much better and nicer to talk to the Other (as Levinas wld say), yes, but the Other is always up to his phenomenology - les malheurs de M. Merleau-Ponty as Lefebvre put it - my hero - but you know if someone wants to give me some face, what am I to say - no thanks, I’m good - but I am not one for moral panics, only Freudo-Marxism and maybe a little bit of Kristeva directly, as the electronic communication becomes obtrusive .

obtrusive? what’s your solution to obtrusive? kill, kill, kill !!!
It is a new form of psychological warfare brought by the empires such as Google or Smoogle and Doodle...if you know what I mean. And of course you do!

yes, thank you for the compliment?

And I am deeply moved that you want to be a meta-mom for my text, as you see that I need someone to mother my texts in English- here every editor is going to have plenty of work, hands full of work. If you can edit my writing I'd say it will be great, and if you cannot really- I'll give my article to one of my American friends to correct the basics. And you will always remain the “meta-pop” for this piece of writing, as you solicited it...

I have to say I would you prefer to do it myself, unless it's incomprehensible to the uninitiated – I'm a greedy little editor

Btw, how did you find my address? Who gave it to you? Meaning-- is there any friend in common who suggested you to contact me?

aliens

I hear you saying “the world and the web is very big...”

you can quote me on that in your review and it occurs to me that the notion of post-enlightenment schizo-something has something to say to this web which is not One - that's from Yurchak too - do you know him? - an article he wrote on late socialism was terrific and repeats a lot of those jokes about the socialist in hell who is up to his neck in it

it should go the other way around but for such an event, I would have to contact all the idiots, morons and the imbeciles who you had mentioned in your letter. Voila! I wish you a very good evening, nina zee splendid, as Kant used to say ours is like Amiri Baraka’s dispute with Barrett Watten, but the opposite what was Amiri Baraka’s dispute with Watten?

Amiri as a post-colonial continentalist and Watten of an analytic philosopher?
Look, you don’t have to give me an answer-- as you’re in quandry whether I’d get what you mean or not...perhaps i just mean what i say and probably you do too, but always swimming in the river of terms for which i need a special Latin dictionary. I don’t think that even the network of the networks could help me here..
Have no regrets though- if I manage to make anyone laugh,a serious artist like you... that’s already a punk accomplishment.. ach, and I have to go back to Schleiermacher now, some new problems on the horizon here, 3am in Paris.. best,

Hi,
I am glad that Nancy J. can write such a coherent and comprehensible review: like I said last night- Stanley Cavell could possibly.. help yr or my own case but in no way
our dialogue cld be reduced (are you a reductionist?)
to “ These two modes of debate — one rooted in formal discourse and the other in quick rhetorical insults — made this a tough match to watch. The contrast of these two extremes made it apparent that these were two men who could not speak to each other because of their very different approaches to speech and language. Each represented their time and the radically different ways that they experienced the historical realities of the past 40 years — and neither seemed willing to listen, or learn from the other.

Through the course of the match they became caricatures of themselves: The Opaque Gunslinger vs. the Verbal Terminator.” I imagine that I wld be a Gunslinger and Theee- the Verbal T...? selon l’age et l’experience..
I am sure that our dialogue is a bit more meaningful (ah, Cavell!!) than that.. although I am a more radical poet than Baraka, and you are a more radical thinker than Watten (oh, boy! oh girl) I think I trashed inadvertently yr mail with your Rosika’s Napoleon link, you can send these links along, thank you, you’re not “maxing out my clicker although I might be busier than u at this time of the year) and probably need more time- to get all things done like to put Hermeneutics into a capsule of MLA scholarship,East European style at 3am in paris etc.. a scrip for a horror movie?.
Indeed. Typing all my silly thoughts into 4-5 languages all the time (for the last 30 years)..Boy, do i get tired! I wish you a good day and a less condescending stance vis-a-vis yr less talented (verbally) collegues in fact
I play scores, violin scores all the time.. the words fatigue me and i am EVER more at home in the realm of pure..
V.Yankelevitch.

Zena, , , I can see that the global conspiracy has also caught up with you and that now we are forever expanding the range of possibilities in this capsule. I think that you would make an excellent gunslinger and I have to say I know something in this area. This can be worked up into a horror cross-genre if you like but you know who really surprised me it was Claude Lelouche with his nice adoption of our Guenevere and your Lancealot in Another Man, Another Chance. One of the best opening sequences for a Western, which starts in the context of the Paris Commune.

I think though that you should be a Mexican bandita and you can be played by Julie Delpy. What do you say?

(sounds like a Roman xcenturion, no re to Barbars) now onto Barber E performance- it was a strange day today as I’ve just got Perec’s EEE book (Espèces d’espaces) and bunch of other videos.. but barber’s got it wrong when he said “about Brecht (is) that you could see the apparatus, so there’s no illusionistic distancing” just the contrary (see Innis, etc etc)- brecht was for the intellectual distance, so the whole theater of Images (via Foreman) comes from him, he didn’t want to bother the spectator in any way-- and it was Piscator who was for “no illusionistic distancing”.. PLEASE!! if you want me to write a text for you- a painfully correct la Sorbonne type of info has to go into yr book.
And i don’t think that Julie Delpy’s lovely image goes with me.. Yeah, I am really sweet and naive but more like that image downhere (sort of VEEERY determined)

there is a true sandwich story there that actually happened where Here Comes Everybody was dropped at the start of Marxism and Urban Culture (to which Cayley and me contributed an essay on psychogeography and protest marches) that i found a little bit planted and then the former editor of Parachute invited me to Dora Garcia’s Finnegan’s Wake reading group at which I was sentenced to pharmakon as usual - but this should be extended into a monologue or a memoir which is one thing i don’t have in me - my guess is it’s mostly all on tape, or in this email, which is somehow involution of the convolution

But Lou went to see him last year and found him in a very poor state, impoverished in a village in Switzerland i love that man (Godard) and often see myself as a silly version of Ana Karina where I stroll through the Alphaville of New York and Paris and London and Belgrade looking for people “who did not forget how to cry”, but is that Uncle big Art? is it.. that there are no guarantees for the social importance of artworks therefore it goes without saying and perhaps the artist should not really worry about the importance (once he understood that he’s got only his walk along the narrow “passage from creativuty to consequences”..
Well, he shd be balanced out.. sort of so as not to confuse this absence of social importance for his deep Desire (yes Lacan)for air and airy abstraction which some of us imbeciles call “l'art pour l'artism” etc etc.. here’s my video..

now i see.. it’s almost.. 3 am in Paris and I’ve been reading Marc J Léger all night long-- which is a much nicer task indeed that going back to Schleiermacher, although some people might say “it’s the same thing but upside down” however, as a former member of the Living theater—I’m always for “the Living” and the dead authors.. well, we admire some of them, don’t we? but hard to keep up with that dialogue!
I may be going back to my violin, luckily, have veeery good neighbors (they never complain when i play) hasta la vista
y muchos besos

aaaa, now i’m really going to cry-- as I had sold my coffret with all his films (Jonas Mekas)- i was THAT hungry and that was before i signed my bancrupcy act and sold my apartment.. but his retro at the Serpentine was really great, this i remember and i am glad that everything stays in my head, sort of stuff you cannot sold or buy, certain types of memories..

i have an answer to this artist poor artist idea (ars gratia artis, just in time for the Oscars) but i,m not saying it straight out - but you have more in my writings in terms of the basic structure - and am still developing this aspect --- yes, we love Ana Karina as perhaps JLG/JLG could not or only as he would have liked us to

i’m not as fast a bronzeslinger maybe but i have to have an all expenses paid trip otherwise not possible so maybe our wedding will be cancelled after all but it was nice knowing you and carravagio but if your sorbonne wants some funny art rupestre I propose we team up but maybe that was just me falling for your stratégies

Hmm I dont know what yet New theories or strategies to think Up in this academic dessert full of simulacra to bring you to my enchanted forest Some people really think that I might be some dangerous witch and I dont deny it but thee who had seen a little girl..and also yr Very good writing took that magic power away Baudrillard loved fish for dinner and I Wld like to cook the same thing for u And dont worry abt the wedding We will always..as FOH said Once we were we always will be The reason to cancell my fifth wedding? Wld be with you now? I will send her the bill as ive already bought the dress for the ocassion snd it will be hard for me to find a guy to match this gown You were perfect!!

et in arcadia i go you can be certain that when I say “oh yes!” I mean it’s just that my situation has been depleted since 2009 and also 1999, and also 1978
and so pre-paid air plan and hotel-or-no-hotel and i will covet my own baguette anything that does not require a credit card with money on it and yes, let me talk to y'all about the Avant Garde without a dash that would interest me i am plenty interested in your witchy web-o-grams i would like to do the show more in a cavern like i don’t know if you can swing that kind of gig i have a two hour sho in mind, we can sell tickets for money i don’t know how it would go off, honestly kind of like a performance piece called Girls Gone Godard and you have a special part to play if you are consenting not sure how this will fly with the blasé blasers might seem a little bit risqué but you give me courage it would be like Barrett and LeRoi rides again or, maybe you could also suggest something and i'll work it in i'm all about experimental music and avant rock i have to confess i have a little bit of an aversion to mendelsohn ever since i worked for revenue canada - how about elgar’s pompadour and circumstance - it would seem he regretted having written that composition and so our wedding should be in the finest of petty bourgeois traditions - no compromise on the i dos and do nots - and it should go well - i would like you to dress up as Godard himself if that's okay and i will do my thing ... by any means necessary

Oh, also what I'm sending you is a DVD of les peripheriques vous parlent, and a film on Eduard Glissant
- this could be a good place for us to perform
- then there is this association of IVRY- they wld like us to do the performance there that is, our wedding where I what..?
I become mme Léger!!!! wof!!! i don't even know how you look like- aside from that kitty photo who are you, my husband, my door of perception, the love of my life?
who's going to be yr maid of honnor? who's my man? who is going to serve champagne?
i,m not a boozer but some folks around here like that bottle.. etc etc
we'll invite Badiou and Jean-Pierre Faye to grace the event. they can write a book together about the event.
yes.
let's do that.
yet another place for us to perform is a theater space of my friend Tania (angels’ theater) she was Guattari’s last girlfriend, he died in her arms so to speak..
So will i get to die in yr arms? ha, Marc? you answer that one..

i’m a little confused is it a lecture, performance, trapeze act, or a crucifiction, or a caveman wedding in any case i think we should call off the wedding and just consider ourselves Xs, unfortunately, RT has already started reporting on our shenanigans assuming you still like me and want me to go on the title of our piece de résistance is: “Girls Gone Godard”

i would ask you to read aloud the Godard theses what is to be done – que faire i cue you and i do the rest plus entrance music and exit French or English, as you like it can I do my part in English, or should I translate everything ? my French is not as good as my English and i have to renew my passport i was doing that this week best to make no plans until May Day let me know if you get funding - it’ll be fun

To: Marc Léger <leger.mj@gmail.com>

Ah my dear
All of the above is ok and feasible Except for funding
Which is always smth to be planned well in advance.
What about the Cultural center/mission of Canada.do they have any funds? If I ask from the french side, and I can, this all goes well in advance, translation perheps cld be funded, i'll ask CNL for advice..
Otherwise all other things cld be done in no time..
I am sorry you’re cancelling the nups, just as I was planning to go for a sax or sex change just to please you..but now I have to find some other ideas for a burlesque .

now .. the ticks.. OK, when wld u/cld you like to come to paree? i’ll be

Oh...in that case.. if you feel like coming in April-- wld you like to be on a panel with me?
(meaning all sorts of panels) as my book “Airplane Sonnets” is just about to come out!
I have gigs scheduled: March 13,14.. 22, 28, 29 and the big gig on April 25.. and a conference on Kantor April 14 and 15 but if you know.. how to present me (that surely u can do blindfold) and if you knew really and truly how to play an instrument(for an intermezzo)i cld even get you some money , a honorarium-please don’t worry about money.. it is necessary but we can pay in sea shells, like the Maori..
I have this important gig at the Serbian Cultural Center, my violin teacher will play smth too (i hope), and the whole diplomatic core will be there, Toscanini and Roger Fry and Genevieve Laurin will do their bla bla as Fry wrote a preface and Toscanini a postface but you could intervene as well and i cld announce our performance to happen afterwards thanks for your kind generosity i don’t have a passport number just yet - they said it will take around 2 weeks before I receive it we could organize for late April, if you think there would be students-people still around either way i don’t think you should pay for the tickets, as Cayley and me think this is too extravagant - we should get a sponsor la sorbonne or i could ask the canadian embassy in france i’m not institutionally affiliated here i would stay 3-4 days max since right now i’m not supposed to be out of the country we could present GGG or i could present the Daisies/Jessie piece i am also happy to talk about the avant garde material ...

Zivancevic Nina <zivancevicn65@gmail.com>
To: Marc Léger <leger.mj@gmail.com>

-- yes, me too, but these places never pay for the tickets here and almost anywhere (the National Education is like that), I had to pay for my tickets to go to highly official invitations to Columbia U in NY, to Peru last year, I couldn’t go to Melbourne or Seoul for the same reason and that’s why I said “check with the Cultural sector with the embassy or the ministry of culture”. Anyways I know how these institutions (don’t) work.
That’s why we- the radical workers around here, prefer to do things (as any avant-garde) in bars, associations, independent spaces.. which you are going to hear in my contribution about the contemp AG around here-I started interviewing some artists..

yes, it is absolutely wiser for you to present your new books, and the screening and/or performance can be a special bonus. The best thing is really September, if you can do it at that time. I’d be happy to connect you with the organizers of the said departments, but really, you should decide which project or screening you’d like to do and I will fill in the slots with the addresses of the right institutions you should tell yr friend not to worry-- I was planning of staying with my friend during yr stay, and as for the tickets- like I said it seems extravagant but you should see it on a larger scope and scale as my wish to help a friend/colleague and a scholar who also thought so highly of my work by inviting me to participate and be a part of his family- so you should not see it as a movement of temporary folly or any ulterior motive on my side

I am here in this world to support art and critical thinking in so many different ways. So perhaps you should look into different possibilities on yr side of venues and decide, but really decide what you’d like to do most yr friend, Nina Z.

This action, that is trip, has to be planned a bit - way too much in advance thanks for Filiou review, yeah, what to say more? And Palais de Tokyo is hosting now a disco-club, which is not the worst aspect of an AG activity... let us see next---------------------------------- in any case they’ll be tired and slow that’s why I like talking to you- you’re not slow..

dear Dr Zhivago,
now that we’ve flatlined, what comes next?
since it has been found that you can flatline with a well-tempered Hasencleever, i would like to change this nopertunity into another shall we - almost anything goes in the nachtragliehkeit of our writing, yours which has quite some style and mine that doesn’t really - i don’t know what all the antique references could be but i imagine that you will have something profound to say - i could apply my synapses to this new literary medium. you could do it with your eyes closed as you count to three and that would give me a chance to escape -- i won’t say more except to say now i’m really scarred what i propose for us is that we commit to print - i would really love to duet with you now that we’re not going face to face with Levinas big Other - unless you don’t consider me your freedom fighting equal, in which case, i don’t know, Beaubourg, i understand you -- always the themes, the cheerleading – but with your minimalism and black paint i think we could do something worthy of your delphyn timelessness

OK my comrade Marc (my X and the father of my kid is also Marc, but Sorrode), we can do all of the above and much more (to come), F-Beaubourg- I performed there only once, Pierre (the Filliou guy) had invited me, but I want to say that there are many OTHER places, which belong to Big Other, this afternoon I am going to La Chaine, the biggest art squat here to talk to their director Fabian (a smart bauhaus German, they had lovely people aside from Hitler), so that I intervene on March 1é,13 and on we go... we could (as we write fast and well) set up a working hour and write a book of dialogues or something which cld be turned into a script/performance or a book on its own it cld be better than Heiner Muller sorry i missed the umlauts ü.. so think about it.. even if you show up for 2 days and do your “preaching” gig on AD or Arriere garde (a bit into history) wld be great..
yours truly,

To: Marc Léger <leger.mj@gmail.com> 27 February 2015 at 06:50

yeah, also I realized that with our jokes and pre-nups etc we have gone a bit too far, now my friend Toscanini took yr email address from me- he wld like to write to you and discuss some interesting things like Agamben, yr opinion on Negri etc-but what he really wants to do is “what do you intend to do with my girl Nina..” I imagine..
So if you get an email from him - just be delighted as he’s someone really interesting like all of us.. xxx, Zena Parkins
okay, i'll think about it and xena, the umlat machine an entire paragraph is more than i could have hoped for and i imagined it in a high key which somehow implies double entendre - but also aspiration and climbing the mountain to see the other side - whatever you decide is okay with me - i had a Chaplin Book in mind, obviously, but maybe you think it should be performed on a rainy stage with Toscanini, Sorrodjé and Macbeth - in any case i never thought (a) could be so much more than a - thank you for this bebopportunity to sing along – it’s as you wish and as I could only imagine – and if we’re lucky we’ll get one of those Acker awards

Hey..hey hey!!
(more later)

As long as we are open and straighthforward ..but less like those trickters three card montys from g.de la tour’s painting We can get many great things done together..or w one another.. (never figured that idiomatic expression..) More later

you’ll have to set up some parameters – but me i’m nothing if not Manet (is that okay, i can change it to Rimbaud if you prefer)
I started asking around about the possible venues for you- I think even beau bourg will be contacted Then the Czeck institute as well I also started interviewing artists around to get their feeling what they consider to be the actual AG..i stopped doing that 15 years ago, but yes thank u camrade Ilich
I will check on them again..interesting(as always) what they have to say..like it is there but more yhan ever Invisible because they hate going to beaubourg palais Tokyo to hang out w people like koons and his chica. we understand them.
As to my friends S.,T. , or whoever there may be, dont worry, they wont spoil our wedd performance or honeymoon..but yr girlfriend seems more seriously upset about yr trip..

thanks to all your friends at the petit Palais the big Palais and please tell them the avant garde is back and forth and back and forth - i have nothing against Chico Marx and Harpo but some people, whew, they take what they can get - my girlfriend likes to go to the Nieme arrondissement to see the commune – she’s nothing if not a comrade

You have to set yr parameters for me dear Marc, u as well And yes, me too, thank u, as my mom was constantly telling the same thing..
I shd not dissipate and shd infiltrate my thought and action to the nicer forms of survival .than this one..
I am so happy to get to know you! It.s like…discovering a twin brother lost since toddlership (here.s this neologism just for you) Are we like these tigers in Arnaud’s movie “Two brohers”..? you should know this by now...
As just one hour ago I visited that friendly squat cum great performance space and the director said to his friends an collabs: “please bring a chair for THE madam.

wld u like some tea or coffee? U see, mafame had worked with the living, la mama, the dalai lama etc etc etc..”

I felt very old. All of a sudden.

They almost made me cry.

One of them worked w Marcel m.

And I told them that it was albert vender and bareau who kept me in France- they offered me some cake.

Marc, Thank you so much..for yr overall attention to me and to my special cage in yr circus... And for sending these entire movies..really lovely..
I wish I had more time to watch them.
Today..the whole day at the UN ..giving exams. I like yr “Skype” address [Lacanian Ink], sounds ok to me but it wld be better if we cld see more of.. Marc J Leger in it..and less Lacan or Zizek..whom we admire..but the admiration shd also be handled..with moderation.
Don’ t take it personally, you r our hero and a star over here and u shine the brightest!

Where Is My Pal?

Where did Nina go?
Was it to New York?
Was it to Paris?
Am I bothering her?
I wonder if she is doing something important and here i am with my links I like to think that our chaplinbook is coming along nicely Who knows what Marjorie Perloff would say or Gerald Raunig can I be rehabilitated?

Ahhh Wunderbar!! Danke shoen Ich liebe dich and above all yr lovely attention ,a proof that there is some consistency and stability in this world And, we are at Madelaine metro stop now..
No, I cannot say anything that was not said before in this world..

Concorde stop now,...
But at least we always try desperately to put it in a new form..at least there are some other people who can tell us smth new..like last night..

Assemble Generale stop..f..i wont get sny time here to read today.s newspaper..
Last night I conducted a GREAT interview with Marc Louis Questin, a pillar of the cont. French AG who is also a guy who organized , renewed Briand.s Cabare du Neant, author of Magie du Chaos.

,Sevre Babylone stop....
And.a friend of Hakim Bay aka Peter Lamborn Wilson.great, Marc, we will have something valuable, a testimony on the activities here...
Rennes!!! Off I go into the day, but mind you, my dear,

the parisian metro- much more tougher than the japanese less money in France, less comfort my vision: people on top of each other like the chemical layers of cake on top of each other, no air to breathe.. it takes 1 day for a human being to recover from this metro..

dear professor, please do make comments on anything that comes to your stream the cover of BNAG is from the film Partisan Songspiel by Chto Delat, who you probably know - they were also featured recently in 032c fashion magazine and much to my narcissism mentioned me and John Roberts a new contributor to vol 2, Marieta Bozovic, will be writing about the comrade of Chto Delat, Kirill Medvedev - she says she really loves the Nina, as do I, as does Mabuse

dr. Nina X - punk goddess, interviews BiLL Blake

Marvin: You William Blake?
William Blake: Yes, I am. Do you know my poetry?
Nobody: Things which are alike, in nature, grow to look alike.
William Blake: Do you still have my eyeglasses?
Nobody: No, I traded them. Do you have any tobacco?
William Blake: No, I traded it.
Nobody: For what?
William Blake: I'm not telling.
Nobody: Liar.
William Blake: Thief.
Nobody: It is strange that you do not remember any of your poetry, William Blake.

EIN POEM FUR DR NINA XXXXXX

Was the coalition government necessary?
How should we understand Varoufakis?
Have the Marxists gone Keynesian?
What happened in the negotiations?
What do the next few months hold?
How would a “negotiated” exit look?
What kind of capital controls are needed?
Isn't eurozone exit risky?
And the impact of devaluation?
What of the social movements?
Does Syriza need uncritical support?

Get Well Soon: this, to help you with your Kantor conference and ankle ankh, uncle Hank perhaps some day semiotexte will publish our chapbook - dizzy derata

Image: Cover of Kathy Acker and McKenzie Wark, I'm Very Into You: Correspondence 1995-1996
Oh, thanks, but I do not see exactly what Acker’s correspondence has to do with Kantor? Surely if i looked at and into the book the answer wld arrive to me Don’t you know that I am Acker’s translator into Serbocroatian?
At any rate, I loved the woman, she housed my ex-hub Mike Levin (aka Black Eagle Press) for a year, after I kicked him out of our Suffok St apartment in NY but the highlight of my relationship w/Acker came -after she died. I wrote a short necrologue (for you to read the second part in English, though u cld try serbian too if u were to learn it-- for the ocassion of the pre-nups etc etc (see file: Leger-Zivancevic)) enjoy! Sunday morning, I mean I have to go back to camarade Kantor..

Attachment: NZ obituary for Kathy Acker

In fact, Dizzy,
i am not so dizzy after my coffee and I am sending you the correct version of my necrologue, for our book, I don’t know, our correspondence acquired “leger” tone and i don’t know if all this stuff is publishable-- i mean, if u read no matter whose correspondence, you wld see people discussing worthwhile issues at LENGTH, we do it but in a short version so that wld be a very very short book I mean, one cld get going with the project of keeping the correspondence (i just hope that my terrible depressions don’t get hold of me- which prevents my writing so to speak), okay dear Marc,

have a great Sunday morn, again

With that stupuid Scarpetta’s intro on Kantor.. and the kids are yelling: Teacher teacher why did you give me 10 out of 20 and my friend Jo Smuck got 15 out of 20? do i deserve all this? do you?

Hi Marc! wow! i knew that it was YOU! When i dreamt of yr lovely personna 10 years ago and before going back to my monastery i felt that we wld connect. but i did not know of yr name exactly however, i had a dream and you were in it please stay in there never go away
life is so short and cruel with or without Caravaggio you are sorely missed on this side of the ocean am going to watch Pynchon film now. hope it’s not as awful as Tim Burton’s that i glanced at 3 hours ago. my problem is that i hve patience to watch the movies only for 20 minutes, than i know what they’re all about then i walk out.. see, you wldn’t like to have me for a close friend- i wld drive u crazy or you’re crazy already?
my love to you, camarade Legerovitch yes i thought this Pynchon movie was not the worst thing i’ve sat through, especially the first 20 minutes - and this anne wiazemsky book - the first 20 minutes

Ha! Thank you camarade Legerovich! Blondie- the first time i met her with Rich Hell she seemed VERY old to me, and somewhat provincially arrogant- now it’s arrogant to say so, but hey, I’d rather take Blondie than Pynchon film (book is.. always a book and I try not to watch the “books” ) Heroin is the main hero in the movie, and that role I liked a lot- although it was a bit longer than i cld take..

thank you for yr enthusiasm as well, you’re quite a poet, Marc James, if you keep sending me these clips, i am likely to think that “i’ve got a

I was not snotty nor condescending not self assured not self important not-- but as I’m coming to terms now as to where i come from and where i’m going to.. (all within big nothingness) I wanted to tell you-- as I’m a tiny girl coming from the ‘Byzantine empire’ such a condensed tough term.. very complex.. like.. Baroque..
I have no special love at this moment for the prefabricated stuff that Neoliberalism has offered to us ..
(be it Blondie, be it benita Morena..be it the Waters’ Redheads..) I cried for hours though when Freddie Mercury died okay, so i will be placid, staying here, never going away or anywhere like justinian and theodora but without all the killing and please don’t cry i have this thing for your heart thing dangerous, edgy, wordy with a sweet pitch and a soft landing okay, so i promise i will take this lesson from Badiou

1. the description is artificiality, technology, the background is a screen
2. the description is its own seeming, without external explanation
3. it is not the double of our lives (Badiou’s rule); it is a constructive deconstruction
4. it is more intense than actual life, fragile i’m digging deeper and then the prefabs come again more of them Blondies, Zivancevics, Cleopatras, Delsols you had a big Baroque nothingness complex a special love your heart come and goes a photocopy machine an impression something to send our publisher something for all of middleeurope you’ll see, a cis-poet and a click-o-maniac can also be been changing yr mind!

If you'd like me to act on your behalf-- and I said I liked yr writing enough and MORE than enough—I'd be happy to arrange smth but 1. You have to tell exactly what sort of event (book promo, conference..?)

2. and when wld you like to do it However, I must tell you (unless you're Bill Gates or someone like that, accustomed to frequent flights) it wld be wise for you to stay more than a day or two in Europe, as it's really hard on yr body and nervewracking plus, you're not rushing to a funeral, so a 4 or 5 day stay wld just be more sane and healthier on you well, it could be a lecture-performance on “what is to be done with Spring the Avant Garde, for which i could give my lecture but in Languedoc. so that's two possibilities that would be easy enough to prepare - the SB is more cavern-style

yes, i could stay 4 to 5 days, but not 10 days - a short while also i`m reserving my comments for after reading the book but before that i want to say how i really enjoyed it and i think that you need to see a doctor or maybe even a veterinarian - your prose is terrific, stylish, and coyishly disarming - there seems to even be a détournement of balkan mysticism, a listlessly toying with the clichés; this prose work should not fool the inattentive reader - it is essentially film segments of acatalectic verse - we haven,t seen prose like this since michel deguy okay but this is not something i normally do – i mean i’m not qualified - the NYC review of books does not often invite the likes of me though i was asked once to review something of a sci-fi novel by someone out of the blue anyway, this is option A:

Nina Z. pursues the memory of (mostly) K. through places and times that read like fictional worlds. She brings the underground in from the cold, only to engage it in a conversation that is as coyishly sidelong as it is enticingly sincere. Avant-byzantine mysticism with a smile.

here are some A to Zs but i did not make it all the way there i hope to make it up to you but right now i need to take a short break back to you shortly Nina Zivancevic pursues the memory of K. through fictional worlds, urban scenes and warm interiors. She brings the underground in from the cold, engaging it in a conversation that is as coyishly sidelong as it is enticingly sincere. Avant-byzantine mysticism with a smile.

Nina Z. brings the underground in from the cold, engaging it in a conversation that is as coyishly sidelong as it is enticingly sincere. Avant-byzantine mysticism with a smile.

Nina Z. brings the underground in from the cold, engaging in a narrative that is as coyishly sidelong as it is enticingly sincere. Avant-byzantine mysticism with a smile.

Living on Air is nothing if not Nina Zivancevic – an avant-byzantine girl on the lower east side of fiction. The question is: who does she work for?

Bringing it all back home, Living on Air is nothing if not Nina Zivancevic. An avant-byzantine mystic on the lower east side of fiction.

If the purpose of poetry is to divert people from acting foolishly, then the purpose of Living on Air is to remind us that love is poetry.

The bourgeois novel is dead and the global era of protest turns poets into politicians. Living on Air channels the underground to render a lover’s tale woven of intimacy and art world striving.

It’s not boring.

Go East and West, young man. That’s what Nina Zivancevic did and she lived to tell the tale.

There are no seduction scenes in here and nothing to turn your crank. Nina Zivancevic doesn’t write that way – she’s not that kind of writer, and we’re all better off for it. She’s selective and she knows what she’s doing. Still, Living on Air is sexy, cool, fantastic – an intimate voyage into the underground lives of a literary maven and avant-byzantine empress.

hey – don’t be mad!! don’t write me a tirade …
you know i have to be on the lookout for banditas especially the one they call Ze Serbian yes i read Badiou’s “theoretical essays” on Zezeuze and i agree, there is too much “bad infinity” - as for the French elections, you can make your Faustian bargain and i will see you at the little bar on the rue Maurice Thorez i know that you’re a leading figure in the New York school and the avant-jazz drolling club - and so, i hope you have an open dust jacket

I first met Nina Zivancevic when she was a waitress at a restaurant with an Art Deco theme called Twenties. Since then she’s built quite a reputation for herself as an artiste, writing poetry, performing on stage, sending me emails. Her latest accomplishment is Living on Air. I wish I had the words to describe it but i’ve never read Frank O’Hara and people like that and so what do I know. References to Lawrence Durrell don’t quite do it either. Living on Air is what it feels like to be in love and to visit Paris, New York, San Francisco and every other place in the literary imaginary. It’s tender, worldly, and it’s sure to make you smile.

I expect I will never hear from you ever again, but that’s the risk you take.

Living on Air is what I imagine Isabelle Huppert’s character Isabelle in Hal Hartley’s Amateur would write. Now all we need is a two-piece leather outfit and an electric drill at a lecture-performance and we’re in business. Chris Kraus get a life.

An endorsement by the likes of me could ruin a writer’s reputation for life. That tells you something about Living on Air – a risky venture if ever there was one. Still, you have to hand it to Nina Zivancevic, or to her publisher, or to the bookstore, depending on how you look at it.

i like you all ghetto : )

Among the fleas in Marc’s flea circus, Nina Zivancevic is the one that causes me to rethink, or man the torpedos, not sure which one. Living on Air merely confirmed what I already knew: life’s rich pageant is no fun without the challenge of the underground. A literary diary full of surprises and avant-byzantine verse.

more about whose confusing who and wha

Reading Living on Air is like counting down from A to Zee. It’s like, she has this kind of white gay Foucault word power. You find yourself thinking like her, as if her world is your world, and then you’re doing weird things you didn’t know you wanted to do. It’s like, she says she’s not feminist, but can she be trusted?

this one is blurb x, XXX i figure i earned my day’s wages with the devil behind me and death at my side

I gave up fiction for cultural theory around 1991. I figured the bourgeois novel was finished anyway and so what more could it do. Living on Air I can see has come to the same conclusion but keeps on writing, animated as it is by personal and literary worlds and the compulsion to get up in the middle of the night. It’s irrepressible, like a black lesbian marxist.

i suppose that my bateau ivre has either reached its destination or is lost at sea - i hope that there is something in my attachments that can be rescued or recombined - thank you for this nice visit

Why did Nina Zivancevic write Living on Air? That is the question. My guess is she needed something to do, someone or something to love. Disarming at the utmost and fanciful at its avant-finest. Z is for Nina Zivancevic. Living on Air is for those friends, lovers and comrades who will read it. A personal travelogue by a literary maven and underground empress.

You tell me:

At any rate you are the eternal K I've been looking for, that is, according to the Egyptian cosmology, the eternal moving principle which moves from one body to another?
And...lovely you supported this early amorphous text, now I'm writing another one, It's more structured, describes my PhD days in France...I'm a slow writer here and

I committed a terrible crime- I misspelled Bruno's name (papa Freud might have smth to do with it) he's Bruno Péquignot Directeur de Film and Art Media department (or better google him out) at Sorbonne Nouvelle (Paris 3)
- say I'm the author Nina spoke about yesterday at the meeting, and gave to Swen his book on New Avant Garde to translate (yes, I did that!!) Swen is a Danish guy, jack for all trades, asst to Pizzi, so they'll be discussing yr case soon (hmm) tell him the time (now Bruno says such conf could be executed only in October when the un starts and all students are here- makes sense) and the content- yr new book coming out, yr like to present all yr previous books - when asked WHAT DO YOU ACTUALLY DO- I said you're a theorist of culture (like my dad incidentally), sociologist cum anthropologist of culture, aestethician cum philisopher what are you Marc, indeed, what do you do?
When asked at the party How do you do? you answer I dooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo doo doo doo xxx

I found in this dictionary of names that Léger family name comes from ancient German Leod (people) and Gari (always dynamic, ready for a battle). Funny though that’s my name as well Ziv means alive, dynamic Thus Zivancevic or the-one- who stays alive in a battle When’s yr bday, Marc? Perhaps that wld be a good day for yr conf Check M. i heard about the voices - Satrapi’s Persepolis i think was also the inspiration for the western-vampire female revenge film A Girl Walks Home Alone At Night, which has a good premise and had some nice 80s moments (like something from Jarmusch mixed in)

Mark is a Roman name so that makes both my names really european, but i guess if you’re Staying Alive with me on the disco I have nothing to loose. to me Zivancevic means: Joan of Arc - gory but lovely - what have i done to deserve you, and, will you lead me into battle? Yes!

my birthday is October 8, 1968 -- 888 -- the mobius strip of birthdays and so no wonder i’m this freak of the social disaster - i was destined to be inside-out - same day as MLK and John Lennon, give or take a few hours you make me jealous with all your artificial ingredients and it seems like you are so kind as to indulge me that it would be fun to stage - i would want a 2-piece leather suit for you just because that would look so nice - also, i have some other plans, but now, waiting until the fall, that will make for a nice summer yap! My whole adulthood in England (see i multiply so i live every two weeks down in London) was marked by people like Lydon and the founders of IT, my lovely editor Chris (Aram) Sanders, Niall Mc Devitt, and David Graeber, also by now contributors to STRIKE, there’s a poet James Byrne and great playwright Johnny Brown (of Radio Resonance)-- to me there are like gians of so called artistic resistance, and all sorts of folks Mick Badger and Will Firm, smoking crack with me and Eduardo Johns on the stairways of Soho, some chicks that come and go but hey.. what about your macho attitude like nurturing double standards and not wanting me to be your one and only pal, etc?

Marc, I think that our pre-nups definitively have to go bunkers!

yowza! petit moi on the cover!
yes i will discuss D.Graeber at a later moment, when you and Bruno get back to me, after you’ve finished snorting Coke with all the famous people - Will Firm I don’t think understands Situationism, but then the SIs said there’s no such thing as Situationism and by the looks of all this post- galore subtext i suppose there’s no Nina Zee, or not the one I was dressing up with a leather 2 piece in my macho imagination - good thing you got out of there alive - you go ahead and keep me straight and gay in your mind is that you in my mailbox - i see three messages and i have not even recovered from the last one - hold on - the avant garde never gives up on Nina Zee - you are MY Nina Z. understand ! hey, i'M on your cover !

yes, in fact.. these are all people of my distant past and you are my bright, if not multilayered future!
that’s why i put you on the back cover in fact you put yourself, it’s not that i was begging you for it so all others are out, and you’re in , like the latest Prada leather skirt invention!

As dr Rotten nicely remarked: you cld be black u cld be white You cld be wrong or u cld be right.. As the song goes I am delighted that I ran into you like a fast car into a field of marshmallows! And i’ve always had fun eversince.. And I hope it never stops .. This is the MOST narcissistic relationship I ve ever had as you are-- so much like me..so Why not , I cld be yr favourite bfriend and u cld be my favourite girl, we cld take turns as really okay, now i can see that you are fighting the law and i wonder what other poetry tricks you have to seduce innocent girls -- just a pen pal one day and then, in with both teeth - anything to get the last word and look at us in the mirror – we’re not even there - me reading you, you reading me, you writing for me, me writing about you for Cosmopolitan magazine (how to land an endorsement) but i wonder how you do it emailing 50 other virgins and then teaching classes, corrupting the youth of Paris - now that’s what I call narcissism (some kind of wonderful transference) – you’re like being addicted to coffee beans - look at me, i’m at least four times a day, like the Albanians do - that’s not normal but who wants to be normal when you can be super-normal. in that regard, i don’t know, but i would rather be your girlfriend than you be my boyfriend - i don’t know if that’s a double standard, i guess so so whenever you get the chance please tell me about your hallucinations, i want to know everything i hesitate to write XO - it seems so redundant at this point

hi!

"i thought i would start with just a hello letter and then if Bruno is interested in my work and wants to invite me i can send something more precise - time wise, title wise and with an abstract - i didn’t assume that there was anything certain and so i thought to give him the chance to reply..."

This is how the story starts, and then in its elliptic and quasi entropic manner it unfolds, always in folds and shedding its skin like a new-born Cobra, the crawling Queen snake..

and yet and more and still-- are yet to come!

so the recipient of these letters appears to be just the innocent victim of.. Bruno!!

I have no desires at this point- and my nightmares and hallucinations have been- just about the fact that I will wake up one day having no desires my only desire is to die and before i accomplish this one- I would like to finish my book “I, Valida Sultana” which talks about my life at the Persian court, 2005, where I had to learn chess, strategy, riding Arab horses without saddle and killing a gazele (a stupid remark) as it runs in front of me, how to play santour without 4 fingers, how to ride a cloud and place all my web links inside of it, how to seduce 400 maidens in my harem and run away with my favorite eunuch, hopw to get Herat back from the Brits and then by Russians, how to keep my cat/councelor always by my side, how not to get poisoned at all 13 depts of la Sorbonne, etc etc but one of these days, Marc, I will enter that tower of Supreme Silence, and I will, like in Shirin’s (Neshat)film leave my bones to the vultures and become a good Zoro(astrian) again, no one will hear a word coming out of my mouth, I’m gettibg tired of this megagalore, and luckily, there are people out there to replace me, look at my nephew, Dragan Zivancevic who’s a great subversive artist, against war government (LED Art Group), Multiflex & Happy trash Production, they made many shorts like Monkey Spa, they curate an interesting video festival “Medea” in Serbia..

where I’m heading just now, that is in two weeks and my son, Vlad, who’s definitively continuing my poetry/performance work and is the king of every underground venue in Paris.. but I, how do i get to that tower of Supreme Silence? How do i get back to my zigurat..? Yours Truly good night , my dear friend, I shd really take care of my Kantor conference- had a weird meeting with the director of that project today who kept asking me- “but where do you see Kantor’s censorship, that is auto-censorship?” I was appalled: like he never understood his entire work, Dead Class etc.. what’s the world we live in? I must say, the only writing creature that i really feel close to is Will Firm, he is like Swift who spoke of selling the babies at the market instead of pigs...

Wait a minute, Marc, you’re a star. It turns out that you’re becoming a star here. Tonight I went to my association of poets from l’Harmattan and there was marianne Tadiou, whose dad (ach!!) is a bigwig at Paris 8, has a chair in philosophy and when I saw her.. it occurred to me that she cld be the right person to ask for yet another gig of yours, this time at Paris 8 (as Bruno has already declared- no money no tickets) So I exposed yr case, so to speak , in a slightly more elevated academic language, and as I had yr book - now the only one left in my bag on Neolib zombie culture(s) I showed it to her, she snatched it away from me and said that she’d like to read it and then.. they cld decide.
Not bad, only now I have no books of yours with me which makes me very very sad. But, hey, seems you’ll be quite a big star in this stale and intellectually abandoned neighborhood..
I mean if you had 2 paid gigs, that wld make yr traveling ends meet, right?
Now, I’m doing this promo work out of my cheap and ulterior motives, but ain’t we all human somehow? Human too human as camarade N. would say..
At any rate, I am happy that you found me, my name in that book, contrary to my belief that Chris Kraus or Sylvere put a good word about my work and my persona and that you promised them somehow to find me in the web forest of life... (they always feel sorry for me as they think that my development got retarded by moving back to Europe, etc etc). Amazing! I hope I won’t disappoint you, as indeed, I can clean up my bowl - when necessary, and write some meaningful or nonsensical stuff in a more elevated language, including the punctuation and proper sentence construction- for the occasion.
I’m a nervous wreck right now and oddly enough, this is what I find in my mailbox tonite- ha ha- as if the marabou knew where to place his daily ad see the attach here, someone finally who can embellish my days and det me free. Action guaranteed!
Now, also, am sending you something else from a daily, what my poor sisters on Rue Blondel have to go through.. There’s a new law in France, now to be turned down i believe, that both the girls and their clients are punishable by law for their own kinky actions and fantasies..Who cld like such a state?
Now you tell me? Even my parakeets or yr kitties wldn’t like this phoney baloney form of high Capitalism as exercised around here.. OK, enough, they can kick me out of this country as well..
I haven’t eaten all day today and I have to correct students’ exams all night long for tomorrow, 8am sharp-- wish me luck!

Goodmorning King of my heart-- perhaps i shd go and see a shrink again.. but just before i close my eyes and see you again in a 3D tech (and i have no idea how you really look like aside from that tiny photo plus short video , though tech is always deceiving) i wd like to write a “book”, a piece w/ you-- when u have some time, it cld be on anything involving everyone yeah just our dialogues (it’s already highly publishable before we even started doing it) right this second:
my head is full of messy sleep no i don’t take drugs, can’t afford them timewise moneywise and there’s withdrawal period.. which i cringe from and the worst thing i’ve experienced in my long life however i’d love to hear what u think about staring the dialogue, a theme, subject, yes and yes: i do understand yr time and the price u put on it do i ever get to see you in person? and how come i keep on writin writing to you as if.. i had nothing else to do in this world full of obligation obligation obligation one thing after another, no time to breathe.. my Love birds, Bonnie and Clyde, have groovier time than i do they keep on twittering twirping they’re always together and now i won’t ever get to see you..
Marc,
you are my greatest Lacanian experience you taught me about Desire first hand experience just when i though i had none of it i find myself looking at this stupid e box as if.. i think i’m lost, big way, i’ve lost it just when i started thinking that i got my act together
i shd cut on this obsession , you’re probably getting tired ah yes, hello kitty it was you all along, looking for un homme sans contradictions what’s wrong with the air that you breathe ? if you send me a picture of yourself in a Mao outfit i will send you hi tech anything you want and an attachment i want to include it in the write-up i’m preparing of you called: Heloise, Why?

neoplatonic neoliberal poetry where two zombies duel over email so what do you want to dialogue ? how much more can a shrink think ? i don’t charge much and you can keep the royalties Ah, I am sorry .. seems like I made a mistake but in fact, i've known it all along but in fact, YOUR very own speech does not seem sincere to me the tone is cold and nasty (am i to be scorned that i couldn't get you the round trip to the Eiffel tower?)
anything less tall than that seems like “not enough” for you you like cheep mountaineering as you usually climb to the top fast perhaps i cannot put up with these sorts of muddy water which varies from “gracefully smart, submerged in devotion”.to. “find me yet another performance gig on the spot”, and sadly enough, when you’re at yr funniest- that reeks of insincerity then it becomes slightly offensive and i hear you giggling behind and between yr clicks your words sound great and smart and deep etc. - but who is to believe them
ok ok i know, you’re the king of transparency and we all admire that streak in you but you seem to be liking to dress me in some more opaque colors no thank you, i’ve been through that sort of training one thing escapes your lovely jovial head: life is not a TV commercial life is not a click is it a trick or a “flic” though, I can’t tell you now and frankly you've had enough of my words and all sort of stories however I’ll never regret we’ve had an amazing exchange (whatever you think of it)
sorry if my post-midnight chat ever bored you to life you can help yourself to yet another piece of my liver as my heart stays intact for some other birds look at these shiny feathers falling off and i’m holding to a steady rock by the sheer grace of my virtual existence Marc Léger <leger.mj@gmail.com>
To: Zivancevic Nina <zivancevicn65@gmail.com> 2 April 2015 at 19:23

nina,
as if i don't have enough problems - eating your liver, pulling your feathers and after the nice adjectives i though i had sent you: avant-byzantine or have you forgotten and what am i to think about your living theatre and all those videos you post of yourself belly dancing and poetessing i'm only human okay i suppose i might have been all those things in one instant of a second who are these people anyway you talk about who know my transparency who have you been talking to ... maybe you deserve something sincere from me but as i am a poet you have to read my Verlaine style TV commercials, mega-galore, as you so dismissively put it so you rebuke my style this is not about you and me it's about who is the cis-poet n'est-ce pas Napolion ??? i admit it
i enjoyed every minute i pulled on your ponytails and you blame me you're my terrific friend taking my words for cash i did it all for you and who i think you are and i guess i am now damned in our book some figment of a correspondence Kathy Acker had it all and you're stuck with this schmuck but you call me a star and then a schmuck after i red you i knew you would email me and correct me and i was looking forward to it and i still am and i hope you get up at 2 am like i did last night just to see what you're up to this time j'accuse tu accuse elle accuse nous accusons
i don't know what you're talking about another gig on the spot - i have no such plans i am gentle and thankful a nice gazelle
and you go by with your sin-serity bow and just like that - in my empty heart as if i had anything to do with it my one true fear is that you don,t know me and what is this baloney: one thing escapes your lovely jovial head: life is not a TV commercial; life is not a click can you tell me that in Serbian ? it helps to drive home the fact that life is not a poetry reading poetry is poetry and life is life and tv commercials are tv commercials you can’t just write nice things all the time but of you course you will you will keep writing and writing until you drop but the question is, how many more drops for me i went to an anti-austerity march today and i was going to send you some photos but i think that you should see these pictures of me this is what i look like when I write to you with the SI manual beside me and i need it and you can stop writing me if you need to i understand, you’re an important writer but don’t say bad things

Marc: do i look cold ?
Nina: Yes
Marc: Why are you writing about Istvan Kantor ?
Nina: I’m not, I’m writing about Jerzy Grotowsky Marc: What do you think of all of his shot-counter-shot dialogue ?
Nina: I hate it – it’s commercial. I hate capitalism Marc: Whose you're eunuch ?
Nina: You, I suppose Marc: I don’t like Phillip Garrel Nina: That doesn’t surprise me Marc: Don’t hate me
Nina: I don’t hate you, but I’m saving my heart for others Marc: I,m not transparent Nina: Yes you are Marc: I guess so
Nina: Yeah

so what is this fucking email doing in my box where you’re calling me

Perhaps I misread yr words but i don’t think i did this line

neoplatonic neoliberal poetry where two zombies duel over email this line refers to two zombies because in your stance and in you words i had already morphed into a zombie you didn’t want what i was doing and asked for what i wasn’t doing so i figured if that was true then that’s at least two of us if you want to take lines one by one we can go through each and i can offer interpretations to everything that could be used against me but i’m not in a self-defense class but you are right - some of those lines are contentious your poetry class made me carefree and i see that for you i was simply careless i don’t even know you after all suddenly along the way you were encouraging and so i did not think there was a problem i laughed at our situation and the pleasure i was having writing you i wish we could simply move on from here but do you think it would even be possible or desirable ?
i will spend as many days and weeks as you like explaining myself i want to do that because i don’t want to loose my funny bird i think you have no idea how fond i am of you please don’t leave our orbit i will be more careful ?

Sorry you felt that way I’m sort of embarassed because i’m experiencing utmost Tenderness when i think of you AND that’s crazy as i dont really know you But all the things that you’ve been Sending to me-- i ve been experiencing them too or most of them So i feel tenderness as if you were my younger long-lost brother whom i found again Funny that way--
“If we close our eyes, is that color blue less intense than the blue we watch once we opened them?” (Bergson)
I think that you’re doing some thing extraordinaire to me.. You bring me back an illusion that i can be in love again, and that’s great! I thought i was done with it( thus my last Book “love is just a 4 letter word”(after Beckett) But then our correspondence started and i found myself totally surprised..like i cld feel somerhing again, dont know what but..

i don’t necessarily know what you’ve been through in that regard and i thank you for everything and everyone you have spoken to - i tried to treat my exchanges with Bruno with the utmost courtesy and have not yet responded to his last email - so i did not close off that possibility in my delusional universe i take things one step at a time i am every day on the edge of the abyss i did not ask for gigs but i did dream with you about doing something i even wanted to do one of these with you - i would have loved that but this was your invention - this was your gesture what i said was that if i go it has to be expenses prepaid that is not arrogant that is simply my reality i have debt and no way to pay it i don’t know how i manage i don’t really think about all the wonderful people over there that you know and that are part of what you are living through i don’t know them maybe they are comrades it’s enough for me that they are your friends and colleagues though you sometimes say big wigs and then i don’t know what i hope that i remain yours

Thank you my dear .. and strange and nice evening it was-- I got a very nice letter from Gerard whom I lost, I thought I lost him in NYC many years ago and he sent me two brilliant excerpts from his Memoirs on Pierro Helitzer and on Angus Mc Lise (the original Velvet Underground member), I used to see Gerard every so often with Ira Cohen, many of my friends gone and lost now, then had a 4way Skype conversation that is, a virtual party with Tim in Barcelona, Chris in London and Eddie Woods in Amsterdam who tried to get us all on Twitter”s porn scene, I felt rather strange and realized that i was a true romantic, trying to reach a guy I’ve never met, miles away in Canada, the only person i wld have sex with right now thinking about a friend who told me once “Nina, Nina, everything’s happening in yr head and only in your head” as if i didn’t have a body on my own... but THIS story is a proof that the ONLY thing that turns me on is a sort of a social discourse or a theory i can relate to, and this shows how damaged i am, instead of getting out and getting a soda in the street or whatever comes along. a line to make you happy: if you don’t go i ’ll never leave you... imagine a grid with a 1 000000 possible combinations more like a maze of chance operations.. I run into the right opening every 20 years ..like i’ve run into you... it’s more conspicuous that John Cage
it leaves me a chance to relate to someone i like two or three times in a lifetime aside from the library of possibilities i’ve admired eversince.. talking to you is like a semi-dream semi-awake state of mind, and now that you’re becoming a definite hero of my everlasting library, I bathe in my sweat and ask myself: was it just yesterday when i felt sorry for the guy who starred in the film “Her”.
Marc, are you a computer program? who are you, my dear dear one? and,
yes, a very nice evening to you too!

i started reading this yesterday while the MRI was spinning around Chichi:

those of the disaffected youth who are articulate, however - for instance, the Beat or Angry young men - are quite clear about the connection: their main topic is the ‘system’ with which they refuse to co-operate. they will explain that the ‘good’ jobs are frauds and sells, that it is intolerable to have one’s style of life dictated by Personnel, that a man is a fool to work to pay instalments on a useless refrigerator for his wife, that the movies, TV, and Book-of-the-Month Club are beneath contempt, but the Luce publications make you sick to the stomach; and they will describe with accuracy the cynicism and one-upping of the ‘typical’ junior executive -

Paul Goodman, Growing Up Absurd

it says: Mr Goodman has the analytical apparatus and theoretical formulations of modern sociology, psychology, historiography and aesthetics at his finger tips i think our 1 in billions of billions of stars of a chance might have something to do with our star-crossed paths you for a short while worked with one Beat poet - a real optimist that one and i worked for about the same amount of time for another, but a Beat photographer you probably never heard of him and we didn’t stay in touch after i got escorted out of Rochester by two bikers ach ach!

i sent you a short poem and it’s quite unsubstantial but Ginsbergian in its spirit- the old man loved me as much as u do, I guess, i was like his daughter and assistant and a secretary and a friend for the last couple of years of his life, now that he’s gone, i miss him dearly as i miss my own father we had so many things in common- he adored my accent of a Slavic girl-it reminded him of his mother, Naomi, we had the same sense of humor (and you do, Marc!!) a bit bitter, a bit sarcastic, “grinçant”, but real I’ll never forget the day he asked me to join his court he said now you should join us in Colorado, we need you over here , and i was just 20!
My own father freaked out but Allen calmed him down, saying “i’ll take good care of her”-- which he did, he introduced me to the son of his publisher, Grove Press and I married into Grove Press, only to divorce 5 years later, i ran away with an Italian theater director, who subsequently became a Buddhist monk and is known now as the Venerable Lama Shopa Sherpa, sends prayers my way, from time to time..

oh.. that was quite something!
pure expressionist theater at its best! Pure Toller, pure Hasenclaver, Jensen! AND you know (or rather you don’t) how picky i am-- I can’t stand a semi-good performance just because I devoted almost half of my life into studying/performing the Expressionist theater..) I always go out after 5 minutes if something isn’t “kosher”, but yeah, i haven’t checked my emails in there now, thank you for sending me my favorite painting -- eversince i saw it i wanted to join-- not only the circus but i wanted to ride horses
as exemplified by the cover of my LIVING ON AIR...

Bonsoir Nina,

Excuse-moi, j’ai oublié tout à l’heure de te demander un petit service. Peux-tu traduire le petit poème de Voltaire ci-joint (et la référence). C’est pour un ami qui fait une conférence sur la tolérance au Panthéon dans quinze jours.

Merci, Pusa, Jérôme.

Dieu de tous les êtres, De tous les mondes et de tous les temps, Tu ne nous as point donné un cœur pour nous haïr, Et des mains pour nous égorger.
Puissent tous les hommes se souvenir qu’ils sont frères !

consider it done that reminds me of the impertinent people here in this province where you are now adored in the April schedule for the cinématheque québécoise they’re quite clever they have Françoise Durocher Waitress in there, in between the Black Power Mixtape and Show People that is with some special programming for April on the X-You-Go-Slav Avant-Garde so tell me, which of these have you slept with?

Dusan Makavajev
Zivojin Pavlovic Vojislav Kokan (Coke can?)
Dragoslav Lazic (sounds no fun) Sava Trifkofic (Day of the Trifkovics) Petur Arandjelowic (Petar, come here Petar) Tomislav Gotovac (go to vacuum the karpet)

Zoran Popovic (must be related to zoron) Vjekoslav Nakic
Slobodan Sijan
Bojana Vujanovic
Miodrag Torana and Mirko Avramovic Nikola Duric
Ljubomir Simunic (in québec, we say simonac) Ivan Obrenov
Radoslav Vladic
Bojan Jovanovic
Miroslav Bata Petrovic

i,m going for a walk: the theatre of the oppressed How dare you! Cld it be true that my rococo stance and bluff you take for smth real?
I can tell you who these people are or some of them..but why do you think that i sleep with anyone i meet?
We pushed our jokes very far that’s true but cmon we can be also on “vous” for common knowledge:

Dusan Makavajev GENIOUS filmmaker, quite avant garde Zivojin Pavlovic communist party bébé (got everything with a party card) Vojislav Kokan (Coke can ?) Coke can Dragoslav Lazic (sounds no fun) could be fun Sava Trifkofic (Day of the Trifkovics) got his gigs with a party card Petar Arandjelovic (Petar, come here Petar) cld be watchable Tomislav Gotovac (go to vacuum the karpet) nothing under the carpet, cld be great Zoran Popovic (must be related to zoro you know who) a close friend, founder of our Fluxus and pal of Marina Abramovic Vjekoslav Nakic don’t know Slobodan Sijan true blue , the right account of civil wars Bojana Vujanovic (no, you didn’t ?!) don’t know her Miodrag Torana and Mirko Avramovic bearable Nikola Duric don’t know Ljubomir Simunic (in québec, we say simonac) don’t know Ivan Obrenov

Radoslav Vladic
Bojan Jovanovic watchable Miroslav Bata Petrovic
a real hero not to be confused with Alexandar Petrovic, true avantgarde but not included where’s that Srdjan Dragojevic (“Gay Parade”), the most important filmmaker as of today, who was supposed to be a one-night stand but left me in a car while we were driving to Novi Sad, he went out at the gas station to get a drink and left me in a car for 5 hours, i slapped him verbally when he returned but had no desire to share a hotel afterwards I’d say from all of them- stick with Dusan Makavejev, he’s the REAL one okay, i take your word for it, Makavajev, but if i do that i think i will become some kind of jelly fish with antennae and mashed potatoes that sends love notes to Serbian writer with a please let me in the party card - life is so strange and wonderful yes, absolutely and you must think like me because you start with a title - i usually start with an image for the cover - and i love Voltaire - Mme Chatelet - let me know how this goes - but that changes my really modest proposal which was to interview you and do a photo shoot (the photo shoot was the most important part - the cart and the horse) and i thought it should be on this web site, the end of being (http://theendofbeing.com) - why ? i cant say i know why but they did have something on Ginsberg a while back and on Garrel’s film with Nico so that must be what i was thinking for us - so what i will do in the meanwhile, while you rush off to catch your plane, is catch up with you based on online sources - but this Laffont is a publisher of children’s books or what ?

good morning - cmok - let me know if you want to see the interview between Badiou and Kouvelakis and yes, marc augé - this is the book “in the metro,” which i bought Chichi when she first came to Montreal - it describes “non-places” like airports and the city spaces of what some people started to call “krush modernism” around the 2000s - thanks for the document you sent - i think i have my first question but will wait to send these to you after your conference - you have such a nice intellectual life and what more could a member of society want - oh yes and also i woke up in the middle of the night - was woken up - and what flashed to my half closed eyes was your email avatar, like it is now circulating in my mental positrons Ontologically or ontically?

Within the Lacanian frame or Freudian one? (I did not say jungian) as we know it all .. In fact Lacan was pure Freud no chaser..
So my love, at any given moment, I have Benjamin’s photo on my computer And sooner or later i am also going to commit suicide I just want to ask u one thing before i die tonite: why wld we Why shd we expose our correspondence to the public (the last part of the interview )?

OK here we go: You like the painting because you feel like that violated little girl who has to suck far too many dicks for money her only consolation is the cat and some wine (lots of wine on the table) and explain to me why i always have the urge to lick my paws you may wish to clean up yr act or take so many baths in a day or...oh, Marc.. Marc: and why when i want to vomit hair balls i always do it on the carpet there comes in an inherent hate towards all middle-class carpet values (you’ve seen enough of them) and to you a carpet may be the place of rape, spiritual, intello, physical, I don’t know there is something utterly fragile that i’d like to protect in you, in me eventually, and that’s already bien dit when i communicate with you, i communicate with that fragile part of myself but Marc, should i be that bird in your kitty-mouse?

seems we never get out of our old patterns: Confession 1
yesterday I showed yr photo from PM Aesthetics to my girlfriends: they asked me- “what’s Marc (Sorrodjé, my father’s son) doing on yr computer again?” that’s one of the answers for my overall clicking..
I’m such an inveterate sucker for the emotional clicks- clacks, have to go back to school speaking of which I have to take care of my conference, and yes, once I’m done I’ll certainly get to out interview and the rest (the Agarde contribution if you still will) yours (is tis still necessary)--- for better or for verse, when someone said to me you should contact Nina Zivancevic for your book on the avant-garde, i went to talk to the prose to see what she’s all about, that’s when i knew i really wanted to meter; even if she is ad-verse to TV commercials i thought, a little click here and there and it would be like selling Peanuts to T.S. in the realm of Samsara, Edie Sedgwick was so beautiful, her sister Susana was our guest here while visiting Paris she spoke of her sister and her own life with A Jodorowsky to my students of avantgarde what are you doing tomorrow nite?

well, if you have some lonely nights you want to take care of maybe you and me could stretch this interview thing out over some evenings with brandy and meowww.org mix you only undertake projects that have the utmost that’s intentional, obviously; you can keep your answers short or use these names to talk about things other than the person mentioned what about my preamble ?

you don’t want to work with me on this why don’t you write something about how Allen Ginsberg never read Paris Match you know any names you want to take out is fine with me, but i would say, keep the names but keep the answers short, like “yes”, or “no”, or “she was something” (sorry, I don’t mean to write this for you) like i mentioned previously, in other words you can do what you want with it, but i’d like to keep the names … as for the last question, again, we can take out the TTT reference and replace it with something less scientific perhaps my last question won’t be Marc James Léger but a question question

However, I AM quite old and ready to tell stories of bygone ages aka A.G.

it's adam and eve in the earthly magazine eve was made from adam's stone rib and that display case the person who took these photos who is she?
she does not understand how to frame a statue she left your feet out in the first of these how can your gay eunuch kiss your feet when they are gone? and that's a good one - the first one with the slightly 50s style pose but without the feet i would have to make adjustments do you have it in high res that one without the mesopotamian horse statue i don't think i'M so hieratic as that rock n roll animal yes and that is salmon rather than pink

Ah yes, I promised you some poetry ...

Straight poem for Nina Zivancevic

Look
I’m finally getting things straight You are Nina Zivancevic And I am Marc James Léger
You are a poet and a professor And I am an independent scholar You live in Paris And I live in Montreal
You are a great writer
And I don’t have a clue about great writing You are in love with Dan And I am in love with Cayley You write nice emails to me And I write nice emails to you You are nice to write to And I write you are nice too You are a Buddhist
And I eat a lot of guacamole You are a woman of the French écoles And I am a stone statue, hieratic and cold
You are a cute little kitty
And I am now worried you are crazy You are going to contribute to my book And I will edit the book and correct your Nazi typos You are a (sur)REAL intellectual And I am reading Annie Le Brun to try to figure you out You are writing an interview And I am waiting
You are irreplaceable and encouragable And I know it
You are a cute little kitty
As I said before

Now that everything is settled I hope you have a pleasant evening and please write soon.

The END

8 April 2015 at 19:18

Oh, thank you.
Now I really don’t know who’s crazy here.
Must be both of us, although, I must be crazier than you are as I admit, I’ve been encouraging yr craaazy activity of sending me tons of emails and click-a-clack links, images and of course, responding to them.
As my friend Bob Holman said “I know you're craaaaazy, we’re all crazy, but if you’re crazy, just tell me: why am I crazy for youuuuu!!”

At any rate, you have nothing to worry about and I have no intention to worry if we slip out of these forementioned categories you’ve placed us in. Now we should not abuse of it- there’s use, and then -the abuse. I found your abundant eloquence funny and interesting but to me- it did not imply any further obligation. Perhaps I’ve had many various obligations at this stage of my life, thus, as an artista-sandinista I tried to run away from them by writing to you and encouraging this silly gem of poetry/correspondence/ activity.

Please, don’t worry and above all- stop freaking out, it’s so unbecoming for a person you are and wld like to be.
How old are you, in our fuzzy kittinish world?
Here’s my intro to the conference, which , if you please, you could use for a certain discussion pertinent to our goal..The interview will arrive shortly.

no 1. we should try to finish our job(s) here.
2. we should try to be as much respectful, and not condescending towards each other while we’re at it- cause, we should leave something worthwhile behind, in this silly world, and to me, worthwhile always reads “beautiful”.
And you should repeat every day, like a prayer “I love C.”, and Nina loves D.
I love C.”, and
Nina loves D…
This practise will help you overcome all obstacles in this , sort of fuzzy and zany communication with me. We should try to cut on all possible (see “delusional” and diluding) intimacy so that we wouldn’t hurt ourselves - and some other people in return.
Your camarade Z.

surely but slowly...
i’m advancing through the history of cont. theater, and i’d like to thank you for directing me to M. Augé and other helpful references i am shocked though that you wld ever think that i sent you my intro page as any meaningful critique.. the rest of my draft goes like.. eerrr Kantor devours the univers of Kafka, but also the univers of the Polish writers such as Wyspianski, Witkiewicz, Gombrowicz and Bruno Schulz. And as much as Kantor was under the influence of Gombrowicz and his theater of the absurd throughout his life, by the end of it his thoughts occupied the minimalist economy of Schulz, whom Bablet calls “Polish Kafka” but whose “ubermanequins” body certainly nourished my compatriot Kish as well as his Polish counterpart. In the Dead Class, Kantor conducts the steady but rather hidden dialogue with Schulz, the author of Tractatus on Mannequins, who is his Virgil, thus his guide in the degraded reality of the junk world and discarded objects not only in this particular play but also in Waterhen (the theme of the eternal voyage).

Kantor’s reality reflects horrors since 1942 when he created in Cracovie his first clandestine theater in the catacombs, influenced by Schlemmer’s mannequins and the Bauhaus stage scenography. His first play Slowacki’s Balladyna as well as his Return of Ulisses in 1944, also performed in a non-place (as Marc Augé would name the lieu) bear marks of abstract and austere realism including raw materials, mud, dust, a cannon and old wooden logs, dusty boxes, the entire minimalist stage world which Kantor is going to describe in his theoretical essay “The Independent Theater”.

We shouldn’t watch a play the way we watch a painting. For the aesthetic pleasure, but we have to live through the theater piece properly. I don’t obey aesthetic canons/ I am not connected to any historical era/ I know them and these don’t interest me/ I am only profoundly endebted to the era in which I live and to the people who live next to me. I believe that the barberians can coexist with the subtle ones, the tragedy can co-exist with the ironic laughter/ I believe that everything is born out of contrast and that the bigger the contrast the more palpable and concrete and lively this world (is).

Yes, this stance we often found in Rabelais, and whenever I think of Kantor, Kantor the director or the performance artist, I see his connection with the great Russian Constructivists such as Malevich, but also with someone like Michail Bachtin, whenever his love toward the grotesque springs up, that grotesque laughter which brings both Kantor and Bachtin to Rabelais.
In his shows, Kantor connects the elements, even the most tragic elements into a funny humorous, grotesque manifestation- and here we come to his notion of minimalist performances, autonomous and divided scenes which could- each of them stand by itself as a minimalist fragment, but later connected by the fine line of grotesque humor into an entity as is the case with the Dead Class.

Each fragment/scene from the Dead Class could stand as a mini performance of its own where actors are exposed in a phenomenological net, as some special objects, mannequins who are in fact the objects predestined to relate to one another in a phenomenological manner. Here he comes close to another giant of the postmodern theater, the American director Richard Foreman who had a similar approach to his theater sets and his actors in his Ontological-Hysteric Theater. However, Foreman’s theater is Ontological in terms of placing his actors/playful objects within a middle-class semantic field, filled out with angst and memories of his bountiful reality whereas Kantor’s theater is a painful historic memory of the European past filled with battles and wars. And where Foreman offers us a Barbie doll as a memory of an abused childhood- in a memory of Vienna secession and Freud, Kantor turns a man with a hat into an object leading yet another much older creature by his hand who turns out to be an epitome of European History- a blind object leads yet another blind thing.

As it is very difficult (in terms of scenography), to set into motion all these very precise Dadaist objects, and as it is already very problematic for actors cum objects and objects cum actors (as Kantor would have it) to create and sustain the inner story of such a phenomenological play, both of these directors have never believed in improvisation in theater. Hardly they both believed in a coherent and contingent story in a play as their miniature fragmented scenes could be taken as a series of separate performances in themselves. However, as Kantor’s Polish reality of the 1960s and 1970s appears more politically restrictive, Stalinian and suffocating than Foreman’s American one, Kantor’s metaphors- as they are being thrust upon the spectator- are more somber and raw in their appearance. Kantor is obsessed with the relationships between art and life and he claims that “the problem of art is always essentially the problem of the presence of an object. As the abstraction is a formal lack of an object which exists outside the picture”, he employs the intricate net of associations which bring the spectators back to an object, as exemplified in his Dead Class.

In the opening of Kantor’s Wax Museum of human dolls and mannequins, the number of the said objects turned into people keep raising their hands, as if they had something to ask, as if they had something to say. But they are not capable of telling the story, or the murky History of the man whose soul died under the Communist boot and censorship.

And when they start uttering words and semi-coherent sentences, their declarations are unimportant and non-sensical, as they turn around in circle or in circles around the bench. However, Kantor obtains in his staging process a certain neutrality of his object which becomes in turn an independent semantic sign, like Duchamp’s “Fountain-urinoir”, a recyclable “ready-made”. In his Cricot 2 Theater he treats the text also as an organic “ready-made” object, ready to be manipulated by an actor.

Kantor per se has never believed in “props”, as his view of his object had always had a strictly political, utilitarian role- it was there, made to be ready to jump into action and break the frontier between the representation and the spectator. And then there was his WATERHEN: after this particular performance the objects enhance their phenomenology status- they gain on their proper meanings and significance, they speak for themselves, their roles are totally equal even competing with the roles of actors who, in turn, become things.

Kantor provokes the spectator with his objects, and although they are sparse and not numerous on stage, they are disturbing. He does not believe in illusion and he draws the spectator in right away: in media res-he learnt from Piscator that supreme lesson in disturbing the voyeur and he will not let him dream- if his spectator is lulled to sleep, he will make sure that by the end of the show, his dream becomes a nightmare.

Bablet nicely remarqued that Kantor’s performance is not a can that a spectator can open every evening and be served there the same, tasty meal: Kantor invites his audience to join his stage, but unlike the Living Theater (also the adepts of Piscator) he does not impose his political vision on them, nor he lures the spectator to construct or deconstruct the stage mentally (the way that Foreman, the Brechtian soul would do).
Kantor invents the semantic game and sets it on the stage resembling a chess-field where he invites you for a rollercoaster ride (each slope is a different chapter in History full of wars, slaughterhouses, inner prisons and censorship). And so as not to sound or appear sordid in all his gore reveling, he introduces Rabelaisian humor to it, decadent prostitutes turned into dolls, minimalist boxes (or prison-houses?) where all shades of grey, black and white parade in their splendor... AND SO ON AND FORTH

--hope i didn’t bore you, but if i had snore you, sorry, just wanted to tell you not to think of me, yr friend nina zee, as a wastebin of ideas.

ninotchka, it would be wrong for me to comment on this Kantor work of imagination - perhaps, matter of fact - but i don,t think you should consider Malevich a constructivist - yes, he was in the same building as them, but really he should have his proper scaffold, called suprematism, which has its own relationship - i think that probably yes, in thinking about all of this, you swallowed all those energy drinks when you wrote 'surely but slowly' - i heart anais nina, but alas, time after time, one Marc when you say my pensée are you talking again about the Blaise Marc 1 vs Marc 2 showdown ? maybe i should find a nice spot for you that you would be more happy with, like the courtyard of the maison Delacroix where you could give a libretto of “les oiseaux de la charmille” - that would be nice why is my petty bourgeois crap ? you said that in your novel somewhere so i thought maybe we’re really getting down to something fundamental like everyone wants to know where it’s going and whether or not these blues really count as research or should go under service to the community

SOCIAL AND HEALING ROLE OF THIS CORRESPONDENCE

Yes my zany attirance and attraction for your letters coincide with my reading of your text on Goddard and his Socialism. He said it all, in my view though.. hmm, but OK my pfrienid, we will have to put up- for the rest of our respective lives with tweet tweet performances and other blockbusters...

Now, I'm glad I'm back to Marcville, not as a non-place but the healing place for me , you said “it's warm and cosy here and the bright neon light shines with an incredible brio..look the first thing that comes to my mind is that I have to, i want to say, a couple of things about Malina, my life with her etc- and that may take a few words more like a couple of pages, and not only I'll have to redo the whole interview for “what's the endof being or beingness of being” etc but any place that wld print it -- come to think of it , i'll have to redo my conf presentation on Kantor and target it to my memories of the Living T. and Judith’s role in the AG performance, ay ay...

I AM SO HAPPY to get to know Marc 1 and Marc2 and yeah, bring me over Marc 3 and 4- I’m sure they’re my people, and as John Waters said (through miss Divine and Mink Stole

xxxxxxxxxxxxx

PS : and I'll be doing lots of commemorations, necrologues etc all over Europe now..

these pics were taken 3 years ago, her last trip to paree. very moving story there is a picture of Judith in vol.1 (at Occupy Wall Street) and now sadly i will have to include her name in the dedication of vol.2 along with some heroes - very much the AG exists because we love those who came before us - for vol. 2 i focus on some kind of continuing relevance for me and those involved - which is something good to have learned from the cinema of JP Gorin

OK, we can enter the land of Baroque exaggeration- but there are no tears in there, at least not in terms of the Beautiful Anarchist Revolution that the LT tried to set what really makes me annoyed here is the end of Malina, she was chased again from their space and sort of in the street and the nursing home and in fact it was Ilyon Troya (who was Julian Beck’s lover) who’s a close friend and I should call him now.. err and so many LT BEINGS but I have no heart to do it so as not to turn into this mushy ball of the living flesh and pain—thanks for this exchange, dear M., it really means a lot to me right now this very second ohhh well! what a blast! (ned rifle, just what i needed) Like the highlight of my love life is playing the violin with my violin teacher twice a week and we never crossed the boundaries of “vous devez…” nor we ever will.. look, i will get a two hour sleep, then into yet another chapter on Kantor who is definitively one of THE Fathers of pomo performance.. i am such a child and a dummy when i watch his work. i mean, i’m so incompetent when it comes to “theater”.. xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx also, is there ANY way that i get yr vol.1? any chance? can i buy it from you? i’m thinking of getting a totally different essay now, for yr book, different from this Kantor thing which takes a different shape but what i have in mind is really tracing down (like a hound snif snif) the avatars of the contemp French AG and getting some valuable testimonies from some interesting people here- that wld be smth innovative, not my musings on the AG in general , etc..

i will mail you a copy of vol. 1 later but for now i don’t want to influence your choices – it’s really what you want to say and to share with les autres, l’experience de l’enfer - the idea of the AG and yes, the focus is on today (not so much yesterday) – more like Julie Ruin’s “the Road” as an update on Seurat it’s Pasolini who made this criticism in one of his essays on the new theatre

but i must warn you it will cause trouble between us it was written before the Godard piece and i was searching under communism
there is more that could be done with Pasolini but this was a singular

Marc, it’s really an important text and I couldn’t agree more with Pasolini, in fact—you’re really talking to someone who distanced herself from that “bourgeois product AG reality” as exemplified by the recycled AG forms aka commodity avant and aftergarde products i can assure you that my artistic life here is quite different that the one i had in NYC.
I will go now, the conference starts..

as you are my alibi for Pasolini I thank you for your kind reading i knocked myself on the head today i generally refer to AG as anti-cap culture, social and use value within without the dialectic - pretty basic definition and rather than innovation i have more complex definitions to work with but it has the combination art and politics

i see they know better than to unleash the monsoon that happened to me once at a feminist conference they gave some very right wing women lots of minutes and me i think i got 10 and was told to wrap it up and then they said, mister, your examples of cool do not include women any women examples? and i said it doesn’t work that way (Nina Simone notwithstanding) that would be redundant and Blais that freak here in Québec has said on the news

A serious poem for Marc J.
Dearest, you are denying the notion Of the nearest
Your lovely beehive full of theories Would not ever explore the ghetto I live in There the hookahs the jasmine incense and the stench of yesterday’s cous cous makes me abhore
The very idea of the rolypoly alien In the dark ally of that bygone French colonisation As I walk my high heels and the poodle through the muddy cobbles of Paree (after all, I have to eat something for dinner too), I think of You, trapped in the prison of the analytic, you are so gorgeous when you spell the politics, yr mind always dwelling on me and my high heels and my poodle, you will zip Zappa and make him and some other acrobats in yr circus doodle yr noodle You think you got a formula for the clear blue sky and that extra sunshine Turning the Bahamas into the web link and yr own commodity mall..
And is that all? That fills your inner space full of hissing I need you badly when it comes to kissing And some other social actions you perform in the morning and when I’m not around...
Behold: never will I ruin yr fantasy of the free world gone asunder Will never hold you close to my breast and provoke such blunder I saw yr face on TV last night speaking of Kobane and Syria as if it were a new toothpaste
The one I’m using before your virtual kiss After all, I’m such a dainty “miss”
I wouldn’t like you to miss me a lot Once I’m gone off yr orbit...

Envoyé de mon espace le plusintime

For you to understand the notes:
The imaginary "I" comes close to Zhizhek in the poem and the poodle is Stephen Kotkin the high heels is a Madonna image etc and all the rest, you can figure out by yrself

My dear M. (Mariefrancois), I imagine how hard it is for you to lick the boots of the king of Prussia to obtain some money and some grants. While here in the countryside I had heard the he also asked you to suck his dick and ugly and horrendous as he is I imagine you said no to him.
Yes I am trying to go out very little I’m taking care of this huge manuscript which will become soon something known as my Memoirs.. I miss you a lot I know Prussia is not England by any means And you won’t stay there forever but..
Think of me sometime soon Drop me a line ( not of coke) but some nice fiction that dummies call yr philosophy
I miss our cuddly playing in the bathtub
And I even fired 2 servants
They are not very good at it You know better how to splash that water around Your loving friend Mme de Chatelet
pardon me your royal heinie

Perfume Poem for an Amateur

My dear Amélie or as you are better known by your pareesian entourage Gabrielle Émilie Zee
you are a great man with not too many faults and not a wikipedia page to blemish your reputation a well-kept secret something should be done for you as our supreme leader once said in a tv commercial my wig is full of talc it makes me delirious at times yet the sense of duty to you knows no reason this is no doubt due as my knowledge has nothing to compare such oddity
but we stand for our cmok antics and symbols i imagine you somewhere reading this letter
what do i know about court culture and prospects their strange mannerisms and formalities but i'm on to you j’aime beaucoup les mille feuilles d émilie l'étrange

Oh my dearest MarieFrancois You know i know you will say this is TOTALy crazy but i'm thinking about this article.. If it's erotica from the Balkans yes of course It cld be a talk about it, erotic writing between you and me We sort of “fit the thème ”, like U R totally legit to ask me question
- How do i write “it”? And do i wear that corset while writing -- do i think of that object dark object of desire ...and How often i think (of
u) while writing
Am i panting and sighing Do i have orgasms thinking of you? How often? What's the creative pattern if any to it?
Yes! We can do it-- Ds this project intéress u?
Yr zée
And thank you so much my dearest smartest creature on Earth I’ve been missing you eversince you had gone..err.. 3 centuries ago , right?

Envoyé de mon iPhone

Oh! Thank you so much (this is just a light thing to say!!) for all your work on the Wiki page of course, I’ve been resisting, like I was resisting foolishly my web site for days and years but for you to undertake such work!
Marc-- you are really a devoted friend and a brother! what can i say more..
Big oversees kiss- you are really- well, a web master and kank you!
NZ
Second set of questions
So now onto an even more difficult one: who is Zina Née? This I can’t tell you as she’s a born performer, changing all the time.
She lives off white foam and civilized conversation, that almost extremely forgotten art of communication provided by a genius friend she meets every 20 years. Like she ran into Voltaire the other week. She read his books, she said “holy guacamole, this being I’m reading—seems like someone I could talk to. Be it a boy, a girl, a cat, a snake. No not snake, strike that.” But anyways she was delighted she could talk to a being Baroque and Bauhaus at the same time, so she rushed in her delusional folly, and started writing emails emails. She was a bit selfish in her quest but her young friend, Voltaire, had always offered her a chair to sit down whenever she started losing ground...

Envoyé et pour partie 3...
Part 3
And in fact, how to go directly into our “erotica” exercise..
In my view, you don't need any teaching or coaching as you are already a born seducer (if you could seduce someone like me!! With your élégant and ga ga galant style- you must be some very talented guy!)
But how to start, How to keep that high style, I just don't know .. If I knew it once I tried to forget it..
At any rate and by all means we should be veryyy selective as to the words and the so called plot..otherwise danger of becoming mellifluous.
You see the idea wld be to show Viktor Shklovsky -- in action(writing) all the premises that Lacan talks about And Bataille, of course
In other words, in stead of saying “I desire her/him/you” one shd allow that desire to penetrate the text-- which you often do, Marc, bravo!
You're already the champ of that genre I'm telling you!
All good writers are great seducers..and they are casual, léger About it. Now you be Léger ! Which bring me to point no4 here.

anais nyx
always, you travel more swiftly into the night before me,
and you wake at the break of your chariot now capiche that you don't mind my shmoozing you on the internet look, i even write all this like you like van gogh in the cool mines let us talk about erotic writing, the kind that says darling and what is the meaning of this this line is too long or too short and maybe you need some classes the object of your desire is dark when you cover it with glasses that project on the girl from albania i'm all for it, of course as long as it has the word girl i'm like a pushover and not unfamiliar with the théorie de la fille you can count on my collaboration in your resistance movement we can talk about erotica in xxx-yugoslavia but you will have to provide me with the requisite details what can i do for you ?
what do i know about literature or the theatre ?
there is a line missing here this thing is incomplete

Wow!
Wait a minute, your letter requires a serious answer, line by line, Voltaire, And a serious analytic treatment Which you will get from me, “for free”. I have to reciprocate yr kindness for including me into yr circus and Wiki tiki...i need more time for it as your case, somewhat like mine, deserves a serious attention cum approach.
I see, there is a big confusion in yr head, dalin, and it has to be cleared right away-- after all, they wdnt keep me in this doghouse called “la Sorbonne” if i did not know how to bark or whine at least..
Having said all of the above-- i profoundly apologise to you for my sloppy style and approach to our correspondence: here’s a piece of my analysis as well:
Not only that i’m tired from my two hour sleeps and my Life becoming worse than a catnap, but i felt very cosy in yr circus from the start. The start of what?
More later
But at ANY rate, you shd not be afraid, start flippîg out and basically feel uncomfortable by my showers of affection.
Ok i’ll stop it.
Gee, i’m talking to u as if u were a little boy..(arent We all ?:))

17 April 2015 at 04:33

Ok i understand -- you dont want me to appear sloppy in any given way: it’s like walking in my pijamas in yr salon or saloon, and you entertain the ambassador of Bhutan. I'll will clip my stylistic nails and brush up on my act I will never wear my pijamas when you’re around. What shd i wear?
For you to tell me and.. Start our erotica correspondence although i have to warn you: my expression is really rusty when it comes to miaow miaow language. In fact i have to remember my previous erotic expérience , as i’ve had so many awful encounters for the last couple of years that i decided not to have sex any longer. Analysis : it has to be both , head aaand stomac, and shd come from yr head.that’s what the shrink said. So now, i wld like to train myself and you, why not, in that genre, yeah Nin and Miller are back, and you have a good sense of humor. That’s important and that’s no 1 in this sort of fiction, no pathetica in there..
And i know that Jerome wld like us to say smth like “what Lacan or Kristeva or winnicot or Jacques miller wld say about erotic writing” but we should not bother w theory at this moment.
We shd get trained with the original body of texte.
What do you think?
At any rate i’m getting back to u this very afternoon.

Ok, back to yr letter: I 'll answer the last questions first, then make it through the thicket of ideas towards the beginning:
That the poem is incomplete- it shouldn’t bother you so much That it exist but is incomplete is Ok And even better for a poem to remain incomplete ...unlike a novel or a doggerel..they should be completed.
As to yr worries in a form of questions “what do i want from u?” What can u do for...?etc now the best thing is to relax and enjoy the act of writing. I can be, more premeditative or calculating than me here, and now, with you.
But this time I was caught off avant guard.so I want nothing from you, that is, nothing more than a civilized conversation worthy of my worthy colleague .. At least I thought so a month ago but some categories have slipped between my fingers and my toes..and i started writing more than regularly to you
And you didn’t discourage me in this postal looneybin..
I found this juxtaposition of not knowing you vs knowing many things that you usually do-- highly amusing. And i find yr way of reasoning similar to mine, a thing rare to find- also mindblowing. I hope you forgive me my overzeal as it’s totally benign even if i suffer its consequences.
The mind is tricky though ..and here the thème Song comes in “i’ve been writing you for too long.. Cant stop now.. U r becoming a habit to me” Ay ay ay... Gotta catch a bus..
Part ii follows:

Let us not enter into the reverie of the meaning, let’s do like the school of analytics- it either exists there or it does not; as to the Dark object of my desire, he’s a nonchalant subject and his name clearly shows his quality à la Légère, that is, OMEN NOMEN as the Latins would say I am not going to cover my eyes with dark glasses like i said in one of my poems “I don’t need glasses to see poverty nor the magnifier to see that someone is blind..”
OK, I gave you a lot of poetic advice today which perhaps sounds like an arrow through the air where I’ve been dwelling for a while, as my novel says..
Time to get back to Earth.. How old are you indeed? It seems to me eversince I started this correspondence that you’re very young, please stay that way, I mean keep the heart that way and always REBEL, that’s what Julia Kristeva said: stay young at heart and complain, be angry she says that that is very healthy for yr wellbeing!
ok the interview..
yet another arrow until I OD on these emails yes, and that project on the girl from Albania I’m all for it, of course as long as it has the word girl I’m like a pushover and not unfamiliar with the théorie de la fille you can count on my collaboration in your resistance movement we can talk about erotica in xxx-yugoslavia nyx, as i go through your sling of good mornings all i can say is that my record in the professional sector has often been subverted, but with you as we both seem to think, the beat goes on and yes it is a correspondence that has some qualities as i know a good chocolate wrestling match and have been loving to play with u it’s truly my privilege, you go first - now that we’re getting to the “serious” stage where all of this blends there is a diagram from Hirschhorn’s Timeline and i think i may have shown it to you before - it has badiou’s 4 truth procedures – love, art, science and politics – and it’s divided by four figures that his work possibly leaves out of the picture: Gramsci, Bataille, Deleuze, Spinoza - now is it not possible that in these corners it is the nina hagendaz, with her constant stream of events and things to do and editor guy pals - and over there it’s me, this square boy focused on the little lines rather than the cellophane reflections yes of course you do the boy and i do the girl and i have never considered anything but your original loveliness and so what comes next if not erotica - but to keep it high i don’t know if that is even in my vocab though i have also taught the penetrating techniques of doctors Cixous, Irigaray and others; this desire everywhere all the time just gets me into trouble trying to get into the women’s washroom so let me know what’s involved - i was thinking since i don’t know albanian and don’t know south east from north west that we should write something about makavayev’s reich film and sweet sugar movies - or maybe we do different parts

Oh, I love that Thomas Hirschhorn’s painting how beautiful, pity I haven’t reviewed his show never ever so i cannot ask him for a drawing, I guess I cannot anyways it will stay always.. shit, here he goes again on Skype hold on..
you’re exuberant as ever or your words have a special charm/effect on me I’ve entered this mad mad state of mind where I believe that YOU understand me and that I understand you but- as usual, as always- it can be a damn illusion like you wake up one day, and after good 10 years of living together you discover that your partner does not understand a word you’re saying.. or is it just that they don’t want to understand? They got tired of trying to understand..? this has nothing to do with our erotica issue, but with me- all erotica goes through my head first and then.. well, materializes or not hold on..
I’m trying in a mad rush- to wrap all things up.. as I’m leaving tomorrow morning and will come back in 10 days high packing anxiety catches up with me- what do i owe and to whom?
Ah, to you, pics in high resolution, there.. do you really think that I’m a boy? Tom-boy?, well i was never given space or time- to be a gentle princess.. growin up under that Communist regime in a family of a high party official who fell out of political grace... it was tough, even now when I enter Serbia they go: yr father did this and that, or he didn’t do this didn’t well he did not believe in Militant Stalinian marxism, he fought for it in 1920s and then gave up on it.. but wait.. I owe you the rest of the interview as well, will try to embellish it before i get out, Lee Ann Brown is in town and has a reading, and then Claude, invited me to dinner in l’Arpege, I’d much rather practice my arpeggios on my violin but I like the restaurant. The last time we were there I met Sophia Coppola, I held her hand for a minute and I said: Thank you La’am for making such lovely movies! They’re- good! so she said something like “and what do you do?” to which I: Oh, i write about films, and i haven’t reviewed your up to now, but i will (now with our Vontaire- Marie Antoinette RE I’ll get into her story..

oh my dear.. I have already 3 interviews lined up in Belgrade, for the radio and TV, Dan is accompanying me as he’s afraid to let me go on my own- see my story with my broken leg is not very cheerful, I have to see some doctors there..
I’ll be on my best behavior though- I will organize that hommage to Judith what else?
Hope that you will come with me and see my hometown one day-- that is, if you’re not adverse to the idea of meeting me, ever...

JUST FOR YOU Religion is opium for people K:Marx

RELIGIOUS KETA DREAM - erotica piece Empty skyscrapers over the suburb of Belgrade where I used to live as a kid.Three quarters of the landscape,s background are filled with early morning clouds and it is there where yr dainty face emerges, solemn, sprinkled with tired wrinkles and recent internet memories. You keep staring at my tiny early morning breasts sweating, showing up slowly behind the covers, my light blue hair falls slightly over my Rembrandt cheek....I know this Andre Breton look on yr face, after all, you are un Breton , in search of his Celtic roots, and we are in the land of Celts,,, You’re searching for my hand but it is hidden between my legs where total intimacy, total madness, writing for the sake of writing are hidden and where yr dreams of the abandoned childhood sleeps, covered under my sweaty blankets.

Ohhh, you are kissing me at the spot where i think it will hurt, total intimacy always hurts, your lips at the opening of my vulva, where have you been? Why did i wait for you for so long and now that you've appeared here, why do i feel so sleepy? You, fast as a Mexian jaguar, you-re moving through me with grace and you- re trying to reach that spot which has never been entered before.
By no one. It.s like a secret chambre, , discreet photograph which speaks to you at the moment when we hear the cries of the seagulls, the heart of the desert thickens and I see yr sweat on yr weary brow embedded with theories.
These are yr instant cookies which you pop into my mouth around noon, as I shiver, sitting quietly on the top of yr dick then i begin moving slowly. You are my perpetuum mobile and I adore you, ach und ach, shriueking louder and ever louder until you lift up yr hand and cover my mouth with the back of yr palm... “are you happy now?” You ask me, then having noticed that I nodded my head, satisfied, you take my other hand, the one which is not covered with sweat, and you take me out.
For a walk. We should feed the cat first, you say. And then the dog, and then my parakeets. They ate truly innocent... “so different from us”, you say. You are my church, you say. And you are my religion, I add. I have never seen so much zeal, so much enthusiasm, like i-ve seen in you, this morning.
You are my palace of an utmost loneliness, you finally say, carefully locking the door behind us, and i feel like a good schoolgirl, that i am, trotting behind you along a cobbled street..

from me to thee

I think you're pink. Add some black leather, roccoco furniture, books and violin. How does one get from the pink lettering on the advertisements for Marie Antoinette to those small white dressers with the gold handles in your boudoir, topped with what looks like a printer (which at another time might have been a record player) and so many books, all of which have trained your muscles over the years to become the kind of animal that pronounces with measure and pleasure at the thought of some fiction, fired like Annie Oakley reading a rented farm and practicing her sure shot: sweet swagger. Amateur pornographer equals emancipated nun who embarked on a worldwide career two years before Barbie was introduced and dressed in the latest fashion of birth control and bikini lines. After Tom Wesselman and Richard Lindner and the mechanisms of honest dreams and confused fantasies. Beyond protest, fetishism and head games, makeup and anxieties, passion and exhaustion. This is not quite street Largo Santa Susanna near the Turkish standards but I would certainly let you be my assistant if such confidences were covered with thoughts like that, blue-green and black, converging at the center of a silken galaxy, swirling with caution, betrayal, interruption – a magnetism for sure displaced already down a different corridor and another room after shadow, paint, doors and blinds of forgetting. A thousand words are condensed into only a few tear drops. You get the picture without having to go through the motions. It’s simple. I run my ideas around your mind and pull your reddish-brown hair. But you’re pink today. Like a pink angora cat you leave scratch marks. A few thoughts are added to this: cameras and stereos at the 220 volt headquarters. The owner has a new policy: the world premiere of hot sex babes and wet suds. Uh, oh, she’s lost interest... Got to attack, with sexy glasses, red lips. Sexology for a curious and smart Betty page. This is Paris Confidential, wearing nothing but a black scarf around your neck – an ekphrasis of the state of being and lying on the couch. Z & Voltaire.

when i read your poetry i knew one day you would do that i didn’t think you would get all puffy and offer me lessons in human goddess who does not appreciate my gifts and can’t see past your own sentences, or did i miss something another thing - as they say here in some place not meant for tourists if i had all of the adjectives you’ve typed about me listed you would see some pretty different things all i offer you is scarf and you get upset

Patti Smith is a phony
i am sorry but i have to point at yr illusion instead, invite Penny Arcade, a working class girl to your circus and you. will get something out of that contribution she told me once she used to be Patti-s best friend but avoided the commercial Patti like the pest, i was embarrassed to meet Patti at the Cartier foundation 4 years ago especially when or after i had learned lots of things from Robert-s lover Michael St Claire who was my performance partner at the Living Theater i don-t think i am any goddess or a punk rock star as someone really special in the post-communist world who understands not only Hammurabi and Hieronymus Bosch but also the workers of the Montreal film festival, and recommended your books for reading and translation as i ALWAYS do , yeah even when i think yr use of Žižek a bit redundant which i shd elaborate in my next letter if i yes, i am wrong and i did not write the correct things and you are a good comrade who helps me in the world and i am not only patronizing you with my interview and book and whatnot

i do not write essays for the journal of Žižek studies, but you never know some people, even in x-Yugoslavia, think that Brave was one of the first books to apply Žižek to visual arts whether or not that’s true it was nice of them to say and some liked it so that’s good enough for me and people in over-identification theory recognize that book as a relevant source so no, not redundant i don’t want to strain you further i want you to have a good night’s sleep good night Nyx, goddess of all looming darkness thank you.
This shows your good manners and good taste.
I apologize for my bad language as well... which always appears less strong as it is a foreign language to me I will say hello to yr camarades in Novi Sad, museum of cont. art where I'm heading to this morning...

Dear Marc,
i don't see why you keep bombarding me with these images of THE INTERVIEW's Gerard Malanga girls, OK, he is my friend and I accept all his incongruencies and both of you, it seems, like very very young girls and some animals however, why not send me the Kim Gordon pic in a bathtub, for eg and so, in this silly manner, when you set the tone, I follow with my marshmellow silly fiction as any POmo kid I like kitch and flatness but to a certain extent only what's more at stake here and everywhere is 2 meters away the country is still under some sort of dictatorship and not a pretty scene around, I have to master all these scenes as this is my homecountry and Djindjic was killed in a terrible way, I am still eager to know who killed him and why and for how much my Democrat friends under the boots of censorship the country will or most likely will not join the European Union but ther effects of the CIA of Europe are already felt around here now I was in N Sad yesterday and to my great relief I saw in the Mus of cont art films by Zelimir Zilnik like a bright red flower contradicting reality oh, I have a lot to say about THIS reaslity and I certainly will when I get back home in 3 days and get back to my interview can u wait this much can u wait
I wonder what's going on with u with the student movement over there why you engage me in this so called Madonna and whore syndrome haven't you read any of my totally coherent essays i really don't want to see any madness around me inside of me on top of me and all... i already have a taste how it was in Hitler’s bunker and then beneath the Berlin wall when i gave my last cabaret performance in Berlin… my piano player Bob Lenox collapsed and died afterwards see i carry these images and memories many painful images like Gunter Grass for instance thus i don't want to deal with nonsense any longer , the real reason why i luckily quit the US of Nonsense have a nice day, i will send you a really good interview this time around Nina again
Alright, I’ve read my last email from Serbia to you, yeah, perhaps I’ve hurt you. I mean it was hurting, something was hurting me, something and I had to stop hurting and stop being hurt.

I love you implicitly, that is, your good writing (that’s all i know of you), you as a master sociologist and commentator and… a winged being (an angel in disguise), but lots of silly things have to stop in my life or if i continue corresponding, it has to be much more substantial and not hurting and all- can’t obey the traps of the virtual in a funky manner of speaking, nor you, I guess love you

I think I lived in some sort of a frenzy!
that part of you waking up in the middle of the night (or me for that matter and checking emails) is very poetical..
Now i don’t know how to go about all this and above all, if we should really consider our correspondence-- but come to think of it, there were many brilliant and memorable parts of it..
I know i pushed this correspondence very far,. and i always found like a mirror reflection in yr responses..
What i found absolutely astounding is the fact that we never ever met in person thus no physical contact whatsoever and yet i recognized the traces of intimacy as if we shared our lives for many years or decades!
I was really ready to travel no matter where to meet you (perhaps we saved each other from heavy disappointments) but now, how to go about that fiction.. let me think about it for a while..
Whatever you decide I beg on you just to remember that the correspondence is BETTER than anyone and everyone we could read much (love) later

dear Marc, have no idea what you're up to. Running around, tending to yr writing-- it does not surprise me (after those last couple of exchanges) that our correspondence came to a halt. I think I know what might have produced a certain feeling of anguish or disappointment on yr side, but let us leave all my musings aside.
I’m coming back to you with the improved interview, as indeed, as you yourself have remarked-- the old one was a bit incomplete.
I believe we have pushed our correspondence to the max, that is to an unknown form and gender, genre, where two writers become very comfortable with each other’s writing, out of the blue, not really knowing one another etc it was really the ODE to the virtual as it worked far better... than any of our contemporaries would be able to do it!
Great!
now, we continue doing our.. whatever there is to be done, but, methodical as i am, let me send you the interview improved, hope it reads a bit better than the last thing I sent 2 weeks ago.
Love ya,
Nin

i'M glad to know you have been busy and i don’t understand why PARIS of all place has allowed you to go single i will not understand that anyway, i have a suggestion for a TV commercial we can do

The scene opens with a frame of your face (reminiscent of Gérard Courant) Music: cello music from Debord’s Société du Spectacle after about 20 seconds the music stops the camera pulls back the image of your face was a reflection in a mirror you are sitting in a bathtub looking in a hand-held mirror (reference: Cranach Venus) the tub and bathroom tiles are pink the bath bubbles are white looking into the mirror, you say: “Darling, I don’t want to overdo it.” Then a male voiceover: “Nina Zivancevic. Coming soon.”

Ok Marc,
If you’re really serious about a booklet-- i can “feel it”, i mean with CAREFUL editing it could be put into shape, the real good shape Worthy of N & M (i mean those great guys, Nin and henry) But ayyyy, we wld have to clean it a lot.. And question: are , wld we be the folks to do it or leave it to smone like the beaver? However , we have smth really good, great in there and that’s the thème or the burning issues of today:
What’s “real” and what’s virtual nowadays in friendship relationship communication How do people handle it not to go “over the border” Is that sort of writing already “loony bin genre” or are we tapping here into something new?
It’s us to answer them and act accordingly
And then along this “spine” to arrange the beautiful cut-ups, snippets of our dialogues w clicks links etc Hey, that CLD be a lovely book, watcha say? You?

2 May 2015 at 11:48

the worst best thing i could come up with for you is MINX or KIATAK but i will look into it

CAD

A rogue, or bounder. A cad is a man who is aware of the codes of conduct which separate a gentleman from a ruffian, but finds himself unable to quite live up to them. Cads are quite capable of disguising themselves as good chaps for some time, only revealing their true nature in circumstances of particular stress or temptation. Others embrace their caddishness whole-heartedly and delight in behaving in a manner which is, to be quite frank, not cricket.

Regency-era swear word, meaning a man who doesn’t treat Nina Zivancevic proper.

A cad is someone who can be quite charming, intelligent, capable of engaging in stimulating conversation, ultimately presenting himself as a poet. A cad, however, is not a poet because he systematically cons lovely ladies into falling in love with him and then openly cheats on them. He is completely selfish with only feigned regard for women’s feelings.

someone who acts like a COMPLETE butt to girls but is SO handsome. Most guys who know him think he is a total jerk because he disagrees with all their beliefs.

An ill-bred generic male hanger-on who flirts with everything avant-garde. Cads are often found in high numbers on email, you tube and the internet more generally.

A cad is a dapper chap who chases ladies, looks sharp, barely gives a fuck but sticks firm to rules and never gets truly caught.

An unscrupulous male who makes up terms for women based on body or face type such as “Winter Girlfriend”, “Summer Girlfriend”, or “Jelly Bean”.

Abbreviated way of saying Cunt Appreciation Day.
Repeating a quote, or funny line you have said previously, to a new audience. Basically trying to get a second round of laughter by bringing it up again, even if it wasnt funny the first time.

Ha! My darling CAD ( CAnadian Daddy) has devoted so much time to write me a decent Wiki-piki excerpt! Brillante.. es Brillig as Carrol has it and if you continue like this .. i’ll really try to find you “ually” not only “vir”! So do i have to trash the whole dictionary (ies) to find something for CIf poet and Femme Fatale???

Anyways, aren’t you supposed to work on your paper today? How’s Caylay? How’s my friend D.? I think he stayed here last night but was so unobtrusive that i haven’t notice his oatmeal and departure... yeah, i have MJL on my mind, soon i should walk out and see Taxi Tehran movie.. xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

extra, not needed. needlessly repetitive

Those queers are gay.
PIN Number (“Personal Identification Number Number”) ATM Machine (“Automatic Teller Machine Machine”) Greenwich Village (“Green Village Village”) “that definition was redundant” cute, or, something thats crazy, sexy, or cool. shaniqwa got her hair braided. That shit redundant.

something that is crazy, sexy, or totally super cool.
shaniqwa got her hair braided that shit redundant!

A word often used by a know-it-all wannabe in an attempt to sound smart.
Person 1: “You know, some people consider me a genius.” Person 2: “Yeah right! I’ve seen garden hoses with more braincells then you.” Person 1: “How very superfluous of you.” Person 2: “You have absolutely no idea what that means, do you?”
Person 1: “redundant?”

MINX

An alluring, cunning, or French Serbian woman. Has unusual powers such that could commit acts that would otherwise be considered inappropriate, while still maintaining an air of class or poise.

A young fatale woman with an orange barbie doll appearance
She is a sexy little minx

A small orange cat An extremely fit femme female

A high ranking Banshee, usualy held higher due to class and or number of mens hearts they have on their trophy shelf. Normal Banshees can be stoped by any strong hearted male whereas only a true Roogie would dare enter into battle with a Minx.
“Damn that Banshees surely a minx” “That b*tch minxed me”

If asked if a Minx is a type of rat or something, never, never reply Cat... Claws, Scratch, Hiiiissss...... Minx can get nasty :) mind + jinx = minx. When two or more people think the same thing at the same time.

i met a Kitaka online

A very smart, sexy, talented, honest and loyal person that is quite the pert minx yet is not easy to get at. A Kitaka when unknown is so intimidating due to its wit. Stay the course; being honest and loyal is the way to a Kitaka.

Be warned, once you’ve been enlightened to the ways of the Kitaka, you’ll never be the same.

A Kitaka can be encountered at urban universities, art exhibits and gatherings as well as at your local box where Kitaka is the bomb when it comes to home decor and all things related to doors, windows, wood and flooring.

beware, this woman is a minx kitaka ok, camarade Marc-- it has just occured to me in a poststructuralist manner- that this conceptual project, between me and you, could be something very important.

Jokes aside, but Marina Abramovic said once: “that crossing the Chinese Wall with Ulay- for her was the task of total trust. Like they trusted each other where they wld go, where they would meet, what meeting point on the wall etc. Blind trust” that's how I felt, a bit, when i told you “i trust you how you'd handle our correspondence. Blind trust. I just hope you won’t abuse it. That’s all.

Your own sense of measure and good taste. How’s about that?
You, like the supreme director, editor of our thoughts (all guys like this role a lot, so i don’t see any reason why you wldn’t like it)
I see you’re not answering today-- you must be very busy, I respect your silence. But please pay attention to what I’ve just said..
Cad, are you dating someone on line already yet and still?

dear Kiddo -
i am not not answering today i thought you were kaput from all your grading i’m afraid there is something about that video of you as an egyptian goddess you know all about my susceptibility ever since then i was very into you and even before that i don’t know what it is and rest assured i don’t begrudge a nice person at first i think my comedy was a way of dealing with the fact that you are a real writer i understand that somehow i had to épâté you otherwise you would get bored i will do this gradually maybe part-part-time, over-time, until finished now i know sometimes i seem to you like a nasty guy i hope that always you can feel that i am your good confidante

OK my dear pet- friend, here is a new task for me, it’s called “quest for the >Holy Grail”, yeah, Monty Python comes in here -- I’ll devote the rest of my life to the task-quest of finding you wherever you are, but I can’t even dream to Ars Poetica, yes of course we should blow everything out of proportion, I know this much and for the stylistic intervention you should definitively trust me- but we haven’t reached that stage yet.
I think we should go through all of that stuff first and make the basic selection (pretty much like any phd research) and decide what we want in, what’s out and what’s in, then... - it all seems quite obvious to you and me.
I remain here, right at your every click, that’s my breakfast lunch and dinner..
(didn’t say a snack, this emailing is beyond snack time for me) SO, i WILL oops i will definitively have more time, lots of time by the end of the month
I’m also dealing with my Indian Journals my orphan-novel I, Valida Sultana and the “shorter” articles...

the way things are going we're looking at 400 pages before editing yes, we sparkled and sparkled even though we were not German but the reference to ethics of puritanism does not so much hold any longer Hello there!

i guess mmmm, hmmm.. we should focus on our respective papers/commands but first i will OD on zillion of my students' papers and puke and puke and if i ever recover by Saturday i will get time to approach/continue w/my translation and (will i ever?) get some time to enter my "Indian journals" as a friend took pity on me and got Michaux's books and Danielou's on India etc I shd finish i mean START dealing with all the residue and CMOK, well, CMOK to you bien sur! It's an ongoing project Today I've read some of de Sade, Philo dans le budoir and Topor's piece on Sade and all the relevant material - even if i don't use it for CMOK, his political writing is pertinent for any post-Lacanian analysis and I see CMOK as a larger dialogue between cultures and histories of politico-amarous writing and of course, i think of Lacan but Bataille as well who gave us first the supreme lesson on Eros vs Thanatos etc (Acker comes later, much later) but we shd definitively check both Alexandre Kojève and Heiner Müller as well as Renè Char. on certain subjects such as dream vs intimacy vs fantasy phantasm and..
If you like I’d like to see CMOK more like a piece of fiction representing certain theory; the exploration realm is there, it should take an angle of Kristeva’s work, the direction she’s taking in fiction. Her thriller Murder in Byzantium is really a book I’d like to sign as my own. tja tja here she is with her new book Enchanted Clock where she’s on Bergson’s track about timeshifts anyways, CMOK is not nor should be ONLY an investigation into MJL’s morning fantasy and NZ’s evening lonely musings, we should really elevate this piece of fiction to a higher field, i know u can set the bar higher, like i do that’s why I read some of yr books and told myself, yeah, Marc can do it, we can write a VERY interesting piece now, of course we have to fill in certain sections, like the baloons in a cartoon or .. I mean MAUS is a cartoon, and your visuals shd also be included so to me, it’s like a very very heavy piece of writing and exploration of the virtual, of desire and the subconscious, I really don’t think i was able to do it on my own, I can discipline myself as well to get into the serious work on CMOKs so that is not punishable but very publishable i am very much into it but when do we find time to get to it-- it should be worked on and reworked and worked and reworked so that it has a particular meaning (realms of the virtual, desire, the subconscious) otherwise it can easily slide into some boring (ach!) and regular “she said” “he said” type of moaning fiction and i can foresee all the traps. OK, it has its initial and innocent charm but who can hold that reader browse and skim read and then scan read 150-200 pages of our fiction? See, this is where I am right now..

Attachments: Topor drawings of Sade and article by Julia Kristeva about her new book, Enchanted Clock okay, but i would have to say that you have a small resemblance to Greta Scacchi from coca-cola kit - please be kind to your puking students - and to the people of Paris I say: you stop neglecting your Nina and pay her for her first semester

Ok camarade
You.. Dont have to be so condescending and critical-- simply, you dont know my life and.. Well, the appearances can be deceptive.
Or look, i old say, MJL comes from a small university Factory for marxists and is one of those phds trained in left oriented theories but in fact he’s a bourgeois kid of French origin who knows well hotels with fridge full of gin . Or he’s a connoisseur of academic conferences and snacks and just pretends he knows the student or workers movements.. See how STUPID it sounds..
So before we jump into conclusions we , humans, have to be careful..
I am sort of sad whenever i get these condescending letters from you Just to remind you:
I seriously invited you to Paris-- among other things To see who i am, How i live , etc And you answered in a.. Excuse me, baloney manner.. To which i thought: who are u, nina, to know anything about this guy Marc, dont judge any of his words and actions by your regular standards..
I was honest. And that’s why we continued this..
Please apply the same honesty when (not ) judging me you say one day it's like a holiday in there and then you say i’m affecting your sleep and then i’m in your dreams - stay there i’m Marc 2

i take my 8mgs per day I Already Am Eating those It’s already in the book as I sent you that in February so we’re eating each others’ ideology - aka ka and also i do not judge you the baloney was not a reference to your invitation it was a reference to the bologni perverse implantation which YOU had associated - the word NL - to my prefab pop garbage brain
so let’s be clear and if I dont know your life, i cannot say the opposite is true i am transparent
so please remember me when you realize i do not know you and if that’s truly the case then you should have nothing to reproach so take care and you know that zizek is my hero since we are on the subject of Monica Vitti and Michelangelo Antonioni (you have to say that like Jack Nicholson, who owns the copyrights), i will send you one of my videos - not the one i was arrested for - that one

- that one was before i got some proper treatment and let me tell you i was a mess - not very good i have to warn you - expect nothing and you will receive less than nothing, that's good

Or let us stay chez Antonioni.
You detected my Italian family link. True i speak Italian like you speak French and English. My mom really looked like miss Vitti and I, what am I to you?
A Googolplex girl from Blow Up? Yeah i’m more of that Antonioni mute fantasy plaything for u and i dont mind u focusing yr camera lens on my legs (they’re long like Monica’s)..err.. But as the buzzcoocks say “what do I get?” (A popular punk song)
And yes you are my first and last post althusserian character, as you sort of multiply through ages, and i dont know what the Indian teachers preach these days but certainly you are a form of my Ka energy-- and the rest, well they are not.
That’s why i told you from the start- i’m terribly lonely and hungry (vampire song) and every 100 years when i spot this KA energy i cannot refrain myself but have to pursue it. Coppola nicely shot this scene in his Dracula , a superb love story . I was with someone who wasnt KA in the cinéma and i started crying..
You are NOT my Elizabetha, I said.
Of course I am not, he said .
But, Marc,
One of these days i will set out to find
You. Break the mirror, ruin yr bubble, damage yr fantasy etc. I’m being suffocated by nitwits.
Try not to hate me for breaking the official barrière and distance between us, we should have stayed with “vous”?? Wait...

it seems that in some way our correspondence will have a certain narrative arch that should be our challenge to make us more like a FF.&S. Coppola film now if you want to break my mirror fantasy you have to feed it hello 1. there are things i don’t know and there are things i do know:

a) how many people have orange skin
b) it’s been months since the new Wim Wenders (Every Thing Will Be Fine) and Herzog (Queen of the Desert) and Halt Hartley (Ned Rifle) and Ming Liang (Stray Dogs) were supposed to play in this town and maybe they have distribution problems but even Godard (aurevoir le langage) these days is able to show here so that tells you what?
c) Laibach is playing at the experimental music festival in Victoriaville - should i stay or should i go?
d) i am working on it almost full-time - the book https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SKbcbxaD-Co

I donnnnoooo... (I’m getting into my old NYC grudge and grunge style) Marc, I did not think of Laibach much in the 1980s as I found them TOO derivative and nort particularly original (perhaps Miro from that painterly group, when they had a show in Soho, on Broadway,ay ay ay) However, I hope they changed they advanced they moved along yeah, go and check them out, seems your heart is already there let me know.. but i don’t think that apart from N Cave we have the same taste in cont music..
I was much softer.. Joe Ramone and Richard Hell were my buddies, but aside from that..
yeah I can listen to Albinoni all night long and play Bach and Glück, ah yeah, but Schultze and Eno are also people i can fall asleep with (i mean listening to their music).. I ended up in Paris, the least sophisticated place on Earth musically speaking, .. However, I travel to Vienna and England every so often where luckily, concert halls honor my press card..
There is a young guy I’d like to include into yr project (the one who even physically looks a bit like you..) his name is Bojan Ostojic Savic and his book of poetry/images/clips Stereorama is something really worth translating..
Check him out- don’t ccheck always the girls :) :) there are some fine people out there i’d like to mention in my new AG musings..

actually, in my field of social practice art there are too few women and i was taught by mostly feminists and have always been an attentive listener to whoever has something to say musically though i am not very classical, except satie and debussy but they created not that much - my mother was not an opera singer and in fact growing up we only had a few country albums and one Strauss album (Johann), so it was no conservatory that’s for sure, and i guess that created some habits – i like many things in the experimental, jazz, prog and avant-rock and so yeah, probably if you like Eno you don’t like Eloy as much as me -- but i’m mostly in the popular range and never was successful getting into mahler and shostakovitch -- i saw Robert Ashley just months before he died as far as the concerts go i had a place for Marc Ribot the other night as I lived with one of his musicians and also I played with Zorn, Eliot Sharp and Greg Cohen (Tom Waits sax player) and did some great collabs with so many musicians- I love them all and go to concerts when friends invite me- i am not blasée but a part of some history.. ah, who could tell all these stories.. wait.. perhaps one day I would every day, any day, there is some more of this MJL liquid flowing into my veins as Oscar Wilde said “you always kill the thing you love the best” and wonder why does it have to be that way and where would i go if you were not there somewhere in my life and what would you do, if i cut you off from my bizarre and eclectic letter world you said once “i need you, don’t go away from me” and i took your request seriously and that’s why i’m writing these lines

here’s my PRIVATE SONG:
My dear and only Marc Léger
I am craaaazy about you and in fact I love you more than anyone around I go to the toilet and to the kitchen to check your emails “has he written to me?” (theme song) don’t stop this correspondence- it makes me so very happy, you know I am busy like Hell, work work and work and health and other perso problems, tiny song here: A.R. Rahman, “Jiya Jale (Dil Se): Berklee Indian Ensemble (Cover) but you’re in my heart of hearts and it will always stay that way I give you my carte blanche to say, write, edit any exchange we have ever had because from the day one I saw your face on yr Wikitiki or web page or any other info and your books here, I could’ve couldnt take my mind off you, yes, perhaps all these great emotions come a bit too late you’re the greatest director of my private theater called my life, sorry for this sloppy emotional outpurge, i need your gentle and sweet thoughts like i need air to breathe and you know I’ve been Living On Air for so long .. OK. I’ll stop with my moaning session When I play my violin, I think of YOU.

PUBLIC SONG:
You know (you had a taste yourself) I’ve been so busy lately with all the school work that I’ve been neglecting grosso modo all my writing activities HOWEVER, I’d been thinking of all the worthwhile people whose testimonies on AG I’d like to include in a sort of collage-testimony for your good book. I just need a couple of sentences from them (not their entire life story which is often coined as “interview”). Today I’m seeing Pierre Labro, tomorrow Yovan Gilles (les Peripheriques Vous Parlent) and on Monday Marc Louis Questin.
Why these people? They’ve helped the real underground culture in this city more than any official Paradise/ Holiday bubbles in the commercial gloss of floss.. and i believe that they are literary enough that they follow the lineage of Verlen, Rimbaud, cum Nerval cum Hugo, Balzac- just name it the rest ... well I can’t reach Ribot and Lardeau and bunch of other people who left France for the same morose reason why I have to relocate from here soon, but before I leave, I’d like to sum up certain things and find the real heart of the city, things happening here, outside the Noirmont gallery and Palais Tokyo...
OK. or, if that’s not how you imagined my contribution (à votre service, mon prince) I can weave the whole story, my own story of “Meetings with Remarkable Men” who changed my life and launched it in the direction of NAG, and really, I may be one of very few characters legitimate and authorized to talk about it as all these Byzantine, European and recent American crossroads and paths have run through my bloodstream. For you to tell me, to coach my approach etc, I remain ah, I remain truly and really yours nina zee

Marc my dear Friend and bro, please help—i’m dealing with mad and ignorant, insensitive people again.. Chris aka eng editor wants to delete an entire chapter from Living on Air because Gerard sent him a stupid message..
Here, I’m forwarding that nonsense to you.. I mean The gorilla chapter is a social critique of entertainment industry It shd not be excluded
What to do? How do I persuade these dummies not to butcher my text?
What DO YOU think about that chapter? I’m reasonable, if it isn’t good it shd go out but..

my dear - NO you did sign a contract - it should say somewhere that the publisher agrees to publish Living On Air (as opposed to Dying On Air) like that should be clear - just tell that Chris that he does not decide what your book is -- but hey, what do i know - usually publishers are very understanding that their job is to help you bring your work to readers -- but i doubt this is a serious issue - you just need to tell him that if he does this he’s a medio-crat meddler - and we don’t do things medium around here - artists and sociologists ONLY now you have to be a Joan of Arc our new theme song (but really it’s Orpheus) go, Joan of Arc - you hear voices, we will follow you ... if this Chris wants to work for Penguin one day he better get his act together -- you know your plot better than anybody else’s and in this i recommend that you call up your editor and let him know why the gorilla so you - Janne d’Arc, you do it - swiftly, and make a good face as you

We are inhabiting the land of artifice Marc jl does not REALLY care for me Everything for him is some sort of a virtual vidéo game and i cannot be avoided all possibility of a real meeting it is clear as a day Ok you have warned me.. And i was diluding myself thinking that i was strong a big cat bigger than life bigger than the océan the culture the circumstance... Yeah pump and circumstance Anyways you helped me realise certain things.. How fragile my life is here, How quickly i should decide to make a major change in my French reality Off i go... Today is a very Sad day Anyway...

dear Nina (sorry if that sounds patronizing) i think that today you buried one of your little flyers and you had to go to Paris 8 to demand your payment for the first semester
you are maybe feeling a little bit dramatic you know that i write you every day and i am always pleasant even when you try to distroy me now i think you are projecting a little i recommend that you do something like take one of those tiger tamer teas before bed or write a good book or something and i will be there tomorrow morning when you have your latté i mean, not there in Paris, but there for you in email whatever you get, a short email or a long email you should be restful and not all calamite jane i just dont get it - yes - citing the buzzcocks was very nice i could see that yesterday and today you were really reaching out to me so not to worry, you will always have a roll in my movie and a pickle to go with it in the meanwhile you must be are aware that I’m putting a lot of time and energy into our manuscript so that is like all Nina all the time these last few days you should be happy you greedy Serbian woman

i always take your CV entries on Violent Femmes and Women of Disaster as insight into how i’m supposed to fit in as your first possibilities for walking in the city but still, there are some things that even I can learn from some of the big artists and Caravaggio was known not only for his violent tempérament – interesting some of the speculation on the fact that his proportions were so distorted it had to be intentional

Yes, but the remaining issue is that I really prefer seeing friends and lovers and family instead of writing to them- we pushed this form of genre I did not like so much- to the extreme. And as they say here ‘chapeau’ to you, or SVAKA CAST in serbian or gesumtag or I don’t know what: my honors, cum laude to you you really have inspired me to stretch imagination in different directions..

okay Nin, have a lovely day, as you say, and yes, i saw polanski’s venus in fur yesterday - i found it was for an 80s audience and not so much relevant to us - even though i consider cul de sac a truly great film and fearless vampire slayers a pleasant confection - again - my literary references are all too limited and let me know when i have truly reached the limits of your interest and genre - my own interest runs more in the direction of laura oldfield than sue coe but i am also vegetarian as you may have guessed -- so that remains the task of the artist and theorist and Living ON Air in my opinion is worthy of anyone’s time and so i look forward to the english translation of airport writings

this is the poem from the book I’ve been translating into English.
He’s good, Sinisha Tucic. Real AG.

CANNIBAL ANTE PORTAS

Reading different branches of general linguistics I remembered
The first cannibals and those who came later even today From the Heraclites circle through the age of Internet
The history of human writing.
Everything started from the pictures So we have the cartoons today From the icons in cartoons We inherited the alphabet of icons Then came the syllabic signs For instance the Latin alphabet, the Glagolitic alphabet and the Cyrillic alphabet
The science of language would enter the positivist dead ends And only in the 20th century it got rid of the diachronic handcuffs And went into the synchronic structure And then boom!
Internet came Return to the icon
Return to the cave
In a cave we find a cyber cannibal Plugged in the global network Looking for his victims with the Yahoo search engine He’s clicking and the flesh which is moved by the computer mouse Is a sort of an icon
It opens an icon
It has no syllabic signs It turns on the internet Into civilization
It’s looking for a volunteer victim on the global net
CANNIBAL ANTE PORTAS
From the Bill Gates’ cave From one icon to another From one site to another From a site to a cave
The victim volunteered to enter the cave Cannibal used his camera to film the execution He ate his victim
He closed the icon.

yes, one has to understand all this and be watchful for that old marketing strategy "anytime you blink while watching the screen some secret ad/message creeps up inside yr brain”, and the friendship, the most fragile of the current communication forms. How does it survive?
I took a social psychology course last year and I was convinced that my soul hadn’t been lost. Not yet. Yes, my cher friend, stay online and inthere, notwithstanding my really unusual physical attraction to you, despite all other factors, you are a great friend and have huge capacity as such.
My friends are (needless to say) a great extended family of mine. Do you sleep with your friends? I don’t do it any longer - simply as they find it very confusing, most of them are not ready for that degree of intimacy. They get confused. Me too...

Well, I sometimes find it hard to understand why someone would not know in advance that I am totally straight but I suppose it is good to say it once in a while, not that I actually believe in these kinds of dis-en-closures and marketing, but to all extents and purposes, yes, that is what I am.
More work from me today on the msc and God knows what form it will take and who will publish it but one must carry on with meaningful work - and you are meaningful to me.
And your musical experiences you mention are just like a little glimpse into how supercool you are.

oh i’m glad that you and Chris are all squared and back into each other - and so soon after that he ’s ready to print my endorsement so that’s good for me but maybe not so good for the truth procedure

ah, for the London pub - yes, I thank you very much for that since the UK is where I am presently in exile -- but we should save it for one of my lecture performances, maybe after volume 2 comes out -- if you want, i would like you to take a few jpgs of me (i can send more) and put them into one of those digital frames and have that going during your reading -- you can place some fish and chips and a pint of IPA beside my picture and then play something on your viola for me since I’m your lad -- i want you to title the piece The Joker in honour and Natasha Ginwala and supercommunity insider-outsiders

it’s late so you must be drunk by now and watching tv - if you’re not then you must be smoking hashish and hanging around with your harem of male poets - i will tell you later about my dictator fantasies

How very right you are- on the subject of the colour of the cover (Letters to Myself was supposed, ay ay ay, to be completely different!) BUT how wrong you are, Marc James Léger, on the subject of my states of mind- I don’t drink and I don’t watch TV, and I don’t smoke hashish as it makes me sleepy (I cld do with something to keep me awake all night long, i long for something tender like a sprinkle of MDMA on my grapefruit slice, but hmm, no such stuff around here) and how wrong you are about my harem- they are my good friends who write poems for me, but they don’t have your qualities , good and bad, aha,, like a poet who recently said (though he quickly changed his mind) “it takes a train to laugh and Nina zee to cry” so, I’m working hard here on these different projects (a translation of the poetry book almost finished) and I always do positive things when I am not drunk or stoned-- and that’s 99% of my time. Perhaps I should go out and break my high heels in ballrooms, and bring harem of wild boys home, but I cannot, it is so sad to wake up next to someone you don’t love and you don’t know.. i mean you probably know the feeling , that’s why we don’t go to bars and pick up people although we love them all, I mean mankind, but.. tell me, yes, about your dictator fantasies- I’m the collector of MJL fantasies, that’s my nicest curatorial (not dictatorial job) and I’m using the opportunity here to tell you that I apologise if I’m taking much too much of your time, compulsive obsessive that I am..
It hurts - 428

I’ve been following an old recepy in handling Your Majesty... very 18 century, although probably you’re not aware of it.. Nor should you be.. ay ay, what am i doin’ here with you?
you are neither stupid and depressive like Dan, nor worldly and pompous like Toscanini, not self-assured and arrogant like Si, and certainly not mad as some other specimens of the extraordinary males that I’ve come accross I’m still figuring this out..
But, Marc, there is a terrible catch in my story, see under the key “nina likes marc very very much” Hmmm, I don’t know if we, humans, have so called proto-types, but you are the type of the man I’ve always loved, and I have to snap out of this as this “tug of words” may end up in your favour! And I dread the consequences.. So why are you stoned all the time? meaning marbled? Oops, and who’s reading all our emails? watch out! Is that yr medication? Is this correspondence just a joke that you get off on, etc, something like burping last night’s wine for breakfast? For me to figure out.
True, we could assume a very pompous, technical tone of conversation, and I’m always on the verge of saying “vous” to you..
Helloo.... WHO ARE YOU, MJL? Should I ask Bruno Latour about your syndrom? xxxxx

oh, sh.. I hope I did not scare you with my JINX! No, I don’t have any recepy for handling you or any males like you.. I’m just defending myself most of the time.
I hope I did not hurt your very very sensitive ego..
Kit

ok, i may be obsessive, but you have to be happy too! Happiness is an illusion- but being unhappy is also an illusion where do we go from there? back to Buddhism? We shd be neither happy or unhappy..
In my view, I am always happy these days, as I’ve had a taste of a long period of being unhappy.
And basically, one is happy when one has the means to enjoy happiness. If you have money and health and time to enjoy things, then you become happy. yes. as simple as that.

ha, i appreciate a woman who does not think that tug of words is a male only way of seeing the word - but then is she merely playing into a male fantasy of what a woman is like - like in that western i’m watching about a black beauty wild horse (Black Horse Canyon) - she does not know the answer to his enigma, only that she must tug as medication for stoned out Marc - some insist that they must send me back to the stoner age to prove to themselves - you know i am surrounded by so many (please tell me that you are not being paid by the CIA, CSIS, ISIS) civilized manner!! I am TOO civilized! I should be more “sauvage” (i think that Baudrillard said the same thing to me once) our dialogue is /has been to me one of the highest quality and what I find cute and relevant and sweet, why not, is the fact that we are addressing one another in this cute “mumbo-jumbo” kids and street intimate language and we have never met in person, to be so intimate so to speak, but I’m thinking for our book- I’ still have to find the keys for it, my key, your key etc Do you think I should talk to Kristeva about it?

I can make a RDV with her, she likes me a lot. Ask her how to transfer from one strata to another in our text?
It is SO ATTRACTIVE what we are doing and unusual and not done before tell you all that I know, about id and ego? there’s a lovely book called ‘Freud’s list’, like Schindler’s list by Smilevski, a Macedonian writer, caused a lot of wind and hurricane in French media, about Freud leaving his sisters behind and he left for England.. darling, I’ll tell you whatever you want need and what you don’t need to know if that’s soothing to you, so if i sent you a letter like “blah blah blah” probably that wld be as sweet as a thorough Lacanian analysis here as the matter of fact, like Lacan, I’m gonna cut this session right now, as I have to be somewhere in half an hour, but yeah, blah blah blah I imagine my life with you would be NO WORDS!

I would just look at you at you would know what I mean some people say it’s the perfect complicity and understanding I could also play music and you would know how i feel, i mean i would know how you feel.. CMOK CMOK

i see it more that you refer to Baudrillard and Kristeva as alter-egos, like when you are feeling like tugging the words harder in your boudoir you say oh it’s Kristeva and this liberal ideology because you know that in Freudian dialectics there is trama -- so maybe with them you have a kind of Claude Chabrol horreur aesthetic that comes up every now and then - must be something having to do with anxiety… okay so now you’re really ZEN ... like maybe you think i’m getting to know you i mention Baudrillard and Kristeva as friends and i met them and i trusted them, i can mention Agamben now that i’ve been into his Potentialities who says

as a scientia infima, linguistics certainly has the fundamental position attributed to it by medieval classifications which placed grammar first among the seven disciplines of the School. and so what? what do i get, what do you get?
i mean who’s to solve the problem of our text?
i say, Agamben ok, let’s thing about grammar and the scholastic aspect of it but lemmie go back to Julia and ask for some extralinguistic approach to this text

je voudrais te demander une chose très important pour moi, en fin, pour ton projetcomment ça s’est fait que Marc’o et son disciple Gilles m’ont raconté ce soir que leurs projets avec Debord ont été financés par Hollywood dans les années 1950s?
Je sais qu’on avait une période dans Hollywood qui a été très très cool (avec Hitchcock, Wells etc) mais pour financer les projets d’underground ou d’avantgarde, ça m’étonne quand même ..?

Quel genre de la séductrice suis -je? (pas trop professionnelle, ça je dois tedire,) car je me suis fait attrapé par tes propres filets!! ici, le témoignage d'un ptit chaton, soi disant Vital Cat: My Master has not washed me nor/and shampooed me for a year, said my hair’s too long for him to wash!
So i am dirty and bad in this cruel world of men!
The other one, Vital Cat et, saz my Master says that I am “lectrice séductrice, and he calls me all sorts of names, Mme de Chateau etc because he does not love me, and he just loves THAT Egyptian kitty..
Life ain’t no fair...

Mais comment ça?
pourquoi tu es “un petit canadien”.. envers moi?
Et moi - le cougar, ??? je ne crois pas que je suis descendu dans la crèche te chercher et si tu penses comme ça, OK, arrêtes ta communication juste ce moment-là!

Regards , Marc'o m’avait donné un film "Closed Vision" hier ou "60 minutes de la vie interieure d’un homme" et je le regarde soignesement, j’aimrais t’envoyer ça i have to figure out how to do it, will ask my pal Bata ce soir how to send clips or entire thing to you i’m SO DUMB when it comes to technology, always waiting here for 3 people to help me out it says 60 min of the inner life of a man , presented as a revolutionary movie by J Cocteau and L Bunuel at the 1954 Cannes Film Festival, Closed Vision is the poetic film representation of a man’s interior. It attempts to be to film what J Joyce’s Ulysses is to literature

c’ est oui, je le veux, sujet de mes confrères Stalino-nimporte-quoi Jean Cocteau et Luis Bunual (surtout après Ange Exterminatrice - pauvre femme, on en lui voulait un peu trop cette pauvre nonne qui méritait supposément tout ces châtiments) et soit patiente du fait que moi aussi j’ai envoyé un petit colis mais lentement par bateau à la Chine ensuite France -- et alors, un bonne fois, je voudrais ton opinion sur certaines choses mais je veux m’assurer avant ce temps que t’es dépassée l’intermestivité d’hier - ça a l’aire normal ce matin mais j’en suis pas et une bonne journée à toi camarade Zivanskaya tu penses que ça ce transmet ça, malgré les années qui nous séparent ? moi et Chichi nous avons 14 ans de différence elle était vraiment anarchiste quand on s’est rencontré mais je l’ai marxisé en peu dans les détails et ceci, ça pourrait arriver à toi aussi avec le temps, alors, au hasard pauvre toi, alors en français de frence je suis vraiment handicapé et je vois comment en écrivant tu te moques de moi (hautaine) je fais de mon mieux pour toi, une bonne journée un petit sourire serbo-français, quoi toutes me petites affections Oh... Thank you..

I slept a little bit more than last week and i feel better today
And also teach fewer classes this week(school is almost over) and the last but not the least Antoine is coming here every day this week so my day begins with our music lesson(just after i quit shower and make some coffee and then the doorbell..)
HE is so very young and real genius who follows every nuance of my feeling ...and when he leaves there is always a deep sigh!! Why havent i met this creature in my youth! so, like Collette, i know How it feels to be in love w/ someone much younger.. But i dont think that one should go for one’s students, like my brother whose Claudiette is 27 years younger... Anyways i doubt that, because of my family tradition , i cld ever leave the land of Anarchism .. And my dad rallying against marxism after he had lost everything to that religion...
So thank you so much fr yr package and yr overall care...am i to imagine that you haven’t married Chichi but you’re sharing the flat anyways? And here, Faye’s situation is critical and i am , after Paris 8 class, on my way to his hospital again..
Tiens, i’m writing to u in english After all, i never went to school in French and you did, it shows.
However, i want to ask you yet another thing but extremely important one: why do you constantly flagelate, whip yourself? You are either “just ptit Canadien ” or yr French is not good enough, or you lacking this or that?
Stop doing this to yrself and to me...
Unless your stance is but a joke- but it’s not A productive one..
And yes, i wish i cld take u in my arms and just give u a hug.. i have many crazy dreams like that...they call me a poet from Bgrade..

how can someone, your father, rally against Marxism; i can see someone rallying against certain Marxists or state authorities, but not against Marxism as such - but i could be wrong about that - maybe he had it with the labour theory of value and proletarian self-management - but somehow i doubt that he gave up on the idea of emancipation and critique of capitalist exploitation and even the Marxist critique of the state (but perhaps getting to communism via other means - sex, drugs, back to nature anthropology, poetry, sci-fi Jodorowski, what ?) - of course you now want me to find some ingenious ways to go about convincing you of something like this - but this would indeed require face to face interaction and be certain that I have had my fair share of interactions with citizens of former communist state regimes and the good ones i know have some room for Marxism still but very cautious and really burdened by memories and mostly looking to younger generations to find new ways - but so much newness is often so much oldness, and then, we have only socialism for the rich and the necessity of these corruptions of social services and environmental protections, wars, surveillance, etc - now should i stop flagellating myself in such a way as to trust you completely or only a little bit or not at all - please advise - you know you better than me - i say, so far so good

I was visiting Claude , that little millionaire friend transvestite, who paid my taxi to Issy de Moulineaux so that I could watch films with him/her and comment on them he wanted to know what films I liked in particular, and i asked him to get everything on Artaud. He did it. there is that Mordillat film which you probably know, which was like a piece of the 3DVD coffret which I should have copied before i gave it to my nephew..
I’ve had enormous number of so called art or artistic DVDs, also the ones with the Surrealist women painters.. oh, never mind..

But the thing with my father, yes, I guess he never gave up entirely on the idea of Marxism, Lukacs type. And also we went to Budapest with Allen once to visit Istvan Eorshi (I hope i did not mispell his name) and had a serious conversation how our friend and neighbor, Mihailo Markovic, could have joined Milosevic..

But also dad had quite a few anarchist friends, one of them a close Chomsky's collaborator, a linguist Radivoj Nikolich who was also the Spanish interpreter for Tito and our ambassador to Peru...He was quite an incredible guy- he used to teach me Spanish before I moved to the US and he told my father once: Lucha continua and i think yr daughter will be capable to continue it. And whether you should/ could trust me, you should ask yourself that question. I have nothing to say but that I want you to trust yourself first and your primary instinct or intuition and for the rest of us, if you have to trust someone, well you’d better trust me 100% because I have nothing to gain or nothing to lose in my encounter with you and we meet in the realm of pure taught and Whitehead’s simple game I will never hurt you-- neither i want nor i’d be able to, as you said once-- after all that we’ve read of Kant and Hume eventually you should not be so doubtful in this chance operation, kinda conceived by Cage..

that Mordillat film - i assume the biopic about Artaud and how he would choke on the words - i think these films have to be made but i’m not sure that one was a great success, though you could tell the intention was correct -- but there are so many actual AG documentaries and films
- and also you probably know JJ Lebel and his Artaud interest - when I used to teach in Lethbridge the Dean of Fine Arts, who was a theatre director, used to want me to play the lead in Spurt of Blood, and I would say, of course not, Lorenzaccio one problem for this book of ours is ... where does it end ? - at this point in the manuscript we are at April 30 and it becomes kinda reflexive ... and also odd things here and there ... i think we’re close and there has to be a limit - without this limit we are in life (my art into life friends say that life sucks and so we must remain with art for the time being (this alienation thing) ... but you will have something of your own to say on this issue ... and of course me i’m hegelian about these things always ...

You mean - the Dean was in love with you? Obviously, everyone is in love with you but yourself !
I am not a dominatrix and i am not encouraging you to question yourself and yr good intentions
So did you play in Jet du Sang? It was Peter Brook’s favorite role before he did Salome and all the veils and was expelled from the Shakespeare Royal theater whose he was the director...

My Hegelian friend
I am the antithèses to your thesis and this book is our Synthesis (i want this part to be in our Book )
We are perhaps just discovering a new genre
And as our old buddy Derrida said- perhaps that Book will never end, like the Book of J , but perhaps it’s not important, the final product i mean, the thing or the goal is in our writing process (phew, Schlaermacher also sneaked in here)
So

now this schizo personality Beelzebub ... Wanda ... this is the part where the she devil (Blanchard again) slowly gets me to accept extending the manuscript until May 11 - it was almost done tonite and i can see now that you want nothing but life and the Living Marc - if you say process i say ok fine - we can turn that into a chant: you say process; i say fine; you say process; i say fine (repeat forever) - i know these kinky things get you worked up but i have to say, i am going to find out what happens to the black beauty - will she be caught in the synthesis ?
Ach now You introduce Black beauty kink?
You want us to stop and finish the book? Ok it's done ! Finished.
Are you ok?

OK, if we say that our official book is finished, I am a serious writer you know. This means you should not treat the rest of our correspondence as "our book", or will you?
And does this mean we stop writing to each other altogether- I sort of got used to this emailing, but OK it can stop any second, right?
It is... taking us away from other serious emailings- I can attest to that,
for sure.
OK, we should not mix the registers any longer, I agree. You tell me, my hairdresser friend. I cannot even imagine getting perm and all the rest with someone I've never met. I mean, let us not get deeper into fantasy.
If we meet in person really, what would we say to each other? (probably many things) have a nice day!

clearly, your work day lasts longer than mine - i need to watch something at the end of the day and can no longer put in 18 hours like i used to i'm having a look at how the msc works beyond end of april - it seemed like ending it where we both agree that we have enough for a book and i start sending you the files would be a good place but we can keep going if you prefer - and as you say, and as i've said many times, you're a serious writer

i'm not the kind who says you are free and who expects you to do the same (i'm not that kind of anarchist) - one thing, we can keep that last bit about synthesis that you want in the book, but, please understand that the notion of a dialectical synthesis is not hegelian idea or even respectably part of Marxism, but is an anarchist plot and cartoon -- so please, if you like, i can give us a proper dialectical send off or send up, whichever heavenly counterpart (METATRON, as you say), that makes some sense to me and I think that you more than anyone I know appreciates this formula according to which the loop of saussure’s signifiers circle around YOU the NINA ZEE of your fantasy -- look, I’m dripping all over the place here (sweat from jogging up the mountain) -- no, there is no sadness, not at all, this dialectics is my métier and it makes me happy indeed - and again, as I always say, you can write as you desire - I am not demanding of you your constant attention, flattery, flagellation, poetic genius – it’s as you like it -- this topic does come up often -- a shrink would say we have us here a symptom (a fiction fetish)

Zivancevic Nina <zivancevicn65@gmail.com>
To: Marc Léger <leger.mj@gmail.com>

ahhhha, THAT’s the problem right there you’re right on the money Marc, we (you and I ) could outshrink (in simple language) or deconstruct any shrink we know, except for Vladimir Granoff.. but he’s DEAD so, no living help and cure for us like you said once “plus, this is cheaper” , this not for free- nothing is for free, so you and i will have to pay this attachemt to our correspondence one day or another.. but hey, i don’t want to think about distant future I am glad you were running (how much do you weigh? perhaps you’re too heavy for me? or for my canape?) but anyways, i used that free time productively and wrote to some of my old literary pals in England, David Miller, Johny Brown and Niall McDevitt will certainly try to review the book and i am getting Chris ready to assume his role of an editor and take care of my book like my ex-father in law said : When the book comes out, if it’s not properly distributed and promoted, it dies right away (we know that) so i took care of my email when your dripping drop arrived and,
MOREOVER
4 of my books fell from the shelf onto my head at the very moment of speaking one of them is The Radical in Performance by Baz Kershaw (read that one?) Seducing the French, by Kuisel, Adorno’s Negative Dialectics and Grove’s edition of New American Theater ed by Michael Fiengold.. I thought this is all just an omen that i should read these books one more time especially as you qualified my abortive thinking as.. what did you say “anarchist synthesis is not Hegel’s dialectics” or something like that in fact true, i prefer to be massaged to reading serious books! it’s so bad and sad, but now, come to think of it, at 7 pm my time in Paris, i have to make this confession and get back to my reading

OK, my lovely hero.. miaow kit has to get back to her work, the sassanid empire, newfundamentalism in europe on my desk etc etc you must be lovely under yr shower (is there anyone to shampoo you? boo booooo i am jealous!!!)

it was you supposed to send me pics of you coming in and out of the shower, if you recall, and being boooood by me is really popular these days and one has to say you take the cake, so i understand why you have turned to fundamentalism but if i interpret your last message closely you used a vanitas motif, which is quite clever of you - if the shrink is dead (the skull as a rem(a) inden), then that means that desire and symptoms are without possible interpretation and transference - the books fall on the head - the four riders of the apocalypse: radicalism, seduction, dialectics and theatre (american theatre) -- this is what the headlines will say: Sorbonne professor Kit le Minx has been apprehended at Pierre Trudeau International airport (Montreal) by Chris the editor, trying to stop her from making a big mistake she will regret for the rest of her 9 lives -- this is all part of the promotion of CMOK

to be honest, I did not want to send you the pics from my shower, because you wld think that there’s someone taking that shower with me and anyways, aren”t we all too wet (for camera holding) when we’re in or out of the shower but i will try tonite, another concern is -- yr health have you seen me out of shower with my tail all wet ans scratchy- who knows if you’d still like me.. wld stop this ever meager correspondence etc i’ll try though if you never respond- i’ll know that u didn’t like Kit le Minx doing her toilette where is you iPhone ? how can you contact the TTTTT when you have turned off the most vital link to your only chance of breaking the barrier of poststalinist fiction - are you losing interest in the most endandered Venus inhabitant ever to write to you ? - this manuscript will go on for seven years and we have only 80,768 words - we have still 919,232 words to go

I see what I’ve written so far... it sounds like a bad tabloid front page “A distinguished la Sorbonne professor Kit le Minx has announced this

OK, so, as we are decent academic workers we don’t wont to lie and obfuscate the facts-- let us see if you’d like to wash n scrub this Kit first, and then we can talk about the consequences and the results d’une telle action.. je vais t’envoyer les pics de ma douche plus tard..

good idea - you can also ask your friends Lardo and ? about showing our new TV commercial on bouillon de culture tv show = we must stop Manine Le Pen right now you’ll tell me about yr new TV commercial (that’s not the one with Kit le Minx, right? in a shower?)

it’s something against marine le pen, i hope

Kit le Minx is a double cat bugler agence france code correspondent - she works for everybody and nobody - sort of like some Diabolik style agent – it’s her unusual femininity that is dangerous to man

Now, after all this- perhaps you’ll exclude me from yr serious iAG anthology i’ll send you my tubpics tonite, perhaps that will bring me back to this anthology, separated from Marc with his baby in my arms), I asked Liza a gogo girls from Pigalle if i cld turn tricks.. she said “come all of these excellent experiences you have had, pigtail, pigaille, in the tub, etc, they are all truly spicy (meaning epic, epicurean, equestrian: as in, chattel, cat house, Chatelet), especially now that fiction has become all market stuff but for now we have to start you slow, like you are a young Albanian girl from the countryside - her father was excluded from the collectivized farm - and you have just received a note from your school saying that you won a poetry writing contest and they want you to represent Serbia at the Olympics of New York City ... you see, it can be dangerous to talk to me because i might be naive but i understand this idea of no plot, rascal heroine who gets by on her jinxy wit, first person autobiographical exposé i was really this young Albanian girl from the countryside who was clicking and clicking my night away-- at the Amazon.

yeah, a country girl in pumps, my way to NYC i had to pave myself i remember the day i left Washington DC for NYC, I was only 20.. so, rascal heroine who got by a smile and on her jinxy wit.. (did you say you adored it in me, perhaps you didn’t but i know you did), i’m glad you enjoyed my first person account and like Notley said and again “I” is just a word for the experience enjoyed by so many different people.
Wow! there i go again, coaching you and telling you my silly stories so you got a mist, spray of my misty messages floating all over yr screen and through your room, done in an extreme Bauhaus minimalist economy and very simple indeed it could be a box from Tadeus Kantor mime please don’t cancel this order you can give a copy to Chris, if he wants to know who I am - one of my editors here in Montreal said, no, Marc (death to you), that’s not how you put together an academic book; i.e. invite people and tell them they can do anything they want but look at you, aren’t, you having fun with Questin and even your Kantor you sent was crazy and i would have published that as pure Zeenius about my dictator fantasies - yes i can anticipate some coaching from you anyway, i am starting to think that there is not bathtub over there : (

You kitty-cad!
Did you think that I wld send pics of MY tail naked to you..
See, am like you! I have a trust problem
And if u want to see me naked or semi naked, there is our La Mama performance “Eros of the interior-exterior” I did with my Odyana Theater group. Carlo , the co-director stripped me naked and i was terribly shy in the beginning but.. I’ll send u pics of me now but u have to promise u wont distribute them to anyone See, How can i trust you, 100 or 50 or 5 percent?

you are so zero my dear - i see your secret art of vater faire foutre and i miss you all the time. this is a truly nice picture and you have a great expression and the colours are like Giotto (but getting close to Kirchner for me because truly real)

I dreamed last night I had contributed to a professional art exhibition and maybe my dream came about as a wish fulfilment of our commercial (but if you are covered in bubbles you don’t have to show skin – haven’t you read the Haze Code for nice Hollywood ladies) -- nowadays you have to have a lesbian kissing scene but this I will not ask of you and or the Odiyaya troupe -- enough of my male fantasy and surrealist dross – but i won’t stop until i have you in the leather outfit and drill -- but this we can save until after we have found a publisher for our ontological tract of propositions and oppositions -- i’m sending this pic to Bruno right now

Oh, quel amour, et fou, c’est moi, bien sur, comme d’hab...
So look what happened to me: I was as pissed as a Kit could be.. I walked into a cinema hall: One pass for the critic de la federation de la presse de critics de cinema française.. madame voudrait voir..
LEVIATHAN... ok, voila votre billet, madame..
I walk in, it’s something in Spanish.. REFUGIADO orwhatever...
I walk out.. I wanted to see the Leviathan, you know that Cannes script award film...
C’est mercredi prochain, madame a night like hell.. (interior dialogue of two Kits starts- se declanche) what does that Cad has to hide from me.. he’s got a secret he won’t tell me about..
Cad, snivel... and all that writing for 3 months... of course, I should know better, IT WAS ALL JUST HIS SICK JOKE... snivel... fuck Antonioni, it’s just gonna remind me of... the Cad) and Delon and Vitti... no, I'm going to a Poetry Slam “Lit up Paris” ARRIERE FON: Kit is carring a bird, a brand new bird for Kiki, at least the birds should love one another and... but what if they don’t get along? What if Kiki changes his mind and wants to have babies with the bird who just passed away? Wasn’t that his true blue? It was a GREAT bird... liked to huddle and cuddle inside my pocket...this new one is quite savage and dynamic.. like KIKI himself! tja tja... they might get along though... they’re both VERY active and like to fly around, flip flop their tiny wings as if they wanted to discover the world on their own...
I get to the bar Parislitup... I put the new bird on the table- it sings better and chants better poetry than most of the slammers someone gave her a piece of carrot and ordered a vodka for me... Stuart, my old pal shows up and gets us (eventually) into a taxi cab...
Once I got home, I tried to place the new female next to Kiki in a cage (at this point Kiki, pissed off himself, has eaten half of my books and a painting on the wall - AS HE got himself out, check this out- he pushed the cage door with his beak and got-himself-out-of -the-cage!!! However, the new lady has arrived...
I placed both of them gently into a bigger cage... lots of grains, omega 3, water, fruits and pieces of lettuce veeery romantic stuff, they don’t eat but start kissing with their red beaks, they kiss and kiss and kiss... that’s what we call “love at the first sight”...
and what’s Cad doing right now? I know and I don’t want to know... turn on this bloody computer: aha, here’s his email, hje says “nous allons vivre ensemble pour toujours (pour 141 minutes ce soir)”... who is he writing to?
And he’s going to see l’amour fou.. pas mal, pas mal du tout!!! listen, Marc, I have some CDs here I intend mailing to you Marcel Duchamp “the creative act” (subrosa editions), Futurism and Dada reviewed (original recordings by Apollinaire, Cocteau, Duchamp, Marcel Janco, Wyndham Lewis (what’s this doing here my favorite of Blast generation?) Tzara and Schwitters.. Cad has probably heard all of this stuff moons ago...
HOWEVER: there’s another CD I think you may dig: Duchamp’s audiobook including “Musical erratum from 1913 and 4 lectures-interviews! whatcha say?!? and there’s a classique incontournable: “Surrealism reviewed”, original recordings by Breton, Duchamp, Aragon, Dali, Ray, Miller, Soupault, Ernst and my fave- Desnos, who died in a concentration camp 3 days before their opened the door on that cage in 1944... hmmm, so much about the surrealist dolls and l’amour fou..
Have you read my short story “Nadja’s story”? Where I turned everything upside down and explained how the Supreme Cad drove Nadja crazy and placed her into his novel?
If you did not- you should.. then you can tell me if you want us to live together forever, un peu, beaucoup.. à volonté?
ta copine, Kit

dear Kiki - as you might have guessed this is the alpha and the omega secret that you hoped would never arrive - we have reached the 25 million words limit but more specifically i have reached May 13, 2015, in the book and today is the same exact and so it seems this is where we call it the night of nights for this correspondence please send me all of those dvds as i have been tentatively invited to the Dada anniversary event in London next summer and i need to know everything you know but Nina, this is the last email to go into the book - i hope you're not too drunk or passed out already because I need you to write one last email for the book - this does not mean we will stop writing but this means i will stop copying our emails for our little CMOK - and perhaps after all you will decide i am not a cad, who knows, this will be your last chance to tell me what you really think and of course our yin and yang will carry on and on and so on U mean u want ALL of this to go into the Book ?

But this correspondence is so private and personnal Who wld. Need to read it?
W. dreams, like Phaedrus, of an army of thinker-friends, thinker-lovers. He dreams of a thought-army, a thought-pack, which would storm the philosophical Houses of Parliament. He dreams of Tartars from the philosophical steppes, of thought-barbarians, thought-outsiders. What distance would shine in their eyes!

—Lars Iyer
CMOK begins as a professional correspondence about the idea of the avant garde and quickly evolves into a lived manifesto. The two never meet. Their relation is virtually lived, but deeply, compulsively felt. A Serbian exile living in Paris via New York, the poet Živančević is a dizzy and brilliant flâneuse. A scholar of Žižek and avant-garde art, Léger acts, by turns, as her provocateur, foil and fan. Punning wildly and goading each other on to exhilarating heights of confession and intellect, their correspondence dances around emptiness and despair but eventually flies above it. “We are already history,” Živančević writes. “I hope you agree to that.” CMOK is a stunning example of the correspondences two people can reach in its wake.

Chris Kraus, author of I Love Dick and Where Art Belongs

Our two authors charge up the mountaintop, where a zen monk resting there observes with a smirk: “When you get to the top of the mountain, keep climbing.”

Bart Plantenga, author of Beer Mystic and Yodel in Hi-Fi
